Democrats Argue Over Loss

Rockefeller Works On Naming of Aides

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Governor-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller today directed joyful Republicans in formation of the Rockefeller administration and some top Democrats argued about how that situation came about.

Rockefeller, elected governor in a smashing GOP victory Tuesday, has begun preparations to take over leadership of the state government.

He met today in New York City with L. Judson Morhouse, GOP state chairman.

He acted amidst a chorus of insistence that his dramatic success in his first bid for elective office had made him a leading contender for the Republican nomination for president in 1960.

To post-election queries along that line, he has repeated pre-election statements that he has "every intention of serving the full four years."

Some observers interpret this as a pledge to serve as governor to 1963. Others point out that it is not a flat statement that he will not, under any circumstances, be a candidate for the GOP nomination for president two years hence.

Meanwhile, Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, who was crushed under the Rockefeller landslide, spent the post-election hours in privacy in his New York City home.

DeSapio, Wagner Disagree

He told newsmen he didn't want to discuss the election immediately and was unavailable to them Wednesday. But he agreed to a news conference today.

But two top Democrats who did want to talk about Rockefeller's victory—by a margin of 555,000 votes—disagreed with each other.

Carmine G. DeSapio, leader of Tammany Hall, said he did not think that charges of bossism had been a major factor in the governor's defeat. The charges often involved DeSapio himself.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York held, however, that the issue of bossism had been "used effectively."

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the only Democrat on the state ticket who was elected, attributed Rockefeller's victory to personality rather than to voter reaction to the bossism charges.

Levitt Pledges Help

The comptroller said he planned to offer the new governor, "my fullest cooperation on a non-partisan basis."

Rockefeller's first steps as governor-elect included the appointment of a task force that will aide him in taking over the state government. Harriman has promised to cooperate fully in the changeover.

The governor-elect will designate a representative to attend meetings of Democratic state officials drafting a budget for fiscal 1959-60.

Rockefeller will take a post-campaign vacation with his wife to Maracaibo, Venezuela. He will leave within the next few days.

U. S. Senator-elect Kenneth B. Keating, swept into victory on the Rockefeller tide, leaves today with the state's other U. S. senator, Jacob K. Javits, on a southern

Ambulance Situation Unsettled

Compensation Is Mentioned to Help

City action might be required to maintain ambulance service if other steps toward its continuance fail, it was noted at last night's Common Council meeting.

Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, chairman of a recently appointed ambulance committee, indicated that solution of the problem was indefinite after a conference with Charles H. Schulenberg, operator of the Schultz Ambulance Service, 599 Delaware Avenue.

Schulenberg said today that he plans to sell and five prospective buyers are interested, but he has no assurance from any of them, to date.

Among them is an Albany chain operator of ambulance services. Three others in Kingston and one in Mt. Marion have indicated interest.

Time Uncertain

Alderman Hastings noted that the Schultz service has three Cadillac ambulances, and that they could be sold separately if the service is not purchased as a whole. It was his understanding that the service could stop as early as the end of this week, but Schulenberg indicated today that he would do his best not to leave the city completely without ambulance service until some definite arrangement is made.

In a recent letter to Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Schulenberg said the service was operating at a loss, and he was forced to discontinue it. He had started it in October, 1952. Prior to that the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., had operated a service for several years. That ended about six years ago, and Kingston Hospital took over the service. Facilities of the latter were acquired by the Schultz service in July, 1955.

To Meet Soon

Alderman William K. Bodenweber, Samuel J. Perry, and Clark W. Myers, serve with Hastings on the ambulance committee. They are due to meet again soon with Schulenberg.

One possible solution mentioned was continuance of the service with the city compensating the operator for losses incurred. This, and other phases of the problem are expected to be discussed when Schulenberg and the committee meet.

The aldermen were notified in October of the problems involved in continuing the service, and the council committee was named.

'59 Vols Parley Set for Rosendale

The 1959 county convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held in the Town of Rosendale July 23, 24 and 25, when the Town of Rosendale Fire Department will be host.

Plans for the convention are underway by the Rosendale firemen with Arthur Mulligan as general chairman. Fred Saur is chairman of journal and August Backert is treasurer.

Democrats Have 34 Governorships If Nebraska Holds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless their shaky margin in Nebraska comes unstuck in an absentee ballot count, Democrats will hold 34 of the country's 48 governorships.

Even if Democrat Ralph G. Brooks loses in Nebraska's official canvass, his party has seized possession of more state houses than it has held in 20 years. In 1938 Democrats held 39.

Nov. 14 Deadline

Brooks, a 60-year-old schoolman, may have to wait until the state's Nov. 14 deadline for the tally which tells whether he unseated Republican Gov. Victor E. Anderson in Tuesday's election.

His unofficial margin of 3,262 votes, less than 1 per cent of the total, could be wiped out by the check of around 10,000 mail ballots.

If it holds up, Tuesday's Democratic sweep captured nine Republican - held governorships. The Democrats lost four states to Republicans and stand to show a net gain of five.

Margins Widen

In most other states where the voting was close, Democratic margins widened as the late reports rolled in. Oregon went the other way, ousting Democratic Gov. Robert D. Holmes in favor of Republican Mark Hatfield.

But in Wyoming, New Mexico and South Dakota the Democrats finished strong. Democratic upsets gave Joseph J. Hickey the nod over Wyoming's Republican Gov. Milward L. Simpson. John Burroughs won over New Mexico's Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, and Ralph Herseth defeated Republican Phil Saunders in South Dakota.

Summing up, the Democrats elected 25 governors (counting Brooks), the Republicans 8. The Democrats had 9 holdover governors, the Republicans 6. Totals, Democrats 34, Republicans 14.

Rosendale Adopts $45,489 Budget; $11,631 Increase

The $45,489 budget of the Town of Rosendale, an increase of $11,631 over last year, was adopted by the Town Board at a budget hearing Wednesday night in Rosendale town clerk's office.

Mrs. Lillian Hyatt, town clerk, said that despite a $11,631.49 increase over last year, the town tax rate will be approximately the same. Last year's general rate was $39.75 and the town highway rate was $22.70. The village highway rate was $17.42.

Mrs. Hyatt said the general fund in the budget has increased $4,419 over last year due to increases in general expenditures, salary increases to all board members and an increase in the town library appropriation. However, the increase will not reflect in a higher town tax rate because town income from sources other than real estate taxation has increased. The Town of Rosendale is receiving increased state aid, mortgage taxes have been larger this past year and the assessed valuation of town property has increased due to new homes and buildings added to the tax rolls, she said.

The Town of Rosendale raises no general tax. The $39.75 figure per $1,000 on assessed valuation is raised to pay the apportionment of county charges on the township. The $22.70 figure is raised for town highway department purposes.

The $7,212.46 increase in town highway expenditures was due to wage increases of the men in the Town Highway Department, an increase in snow removal funds and the purchase of a new dump truck, the adopted budget indicated.

Increases of $1,000 each per year were granted to two town volunteer fire companies in new contracts approved for fire protection of the township.

Bloomington Fire Company's new five-year contract calls for $2,500 per year, and Binnewater Fire Company's five-year pact was signed for $2,000 per year.

$81,688 Is Voted for Projects

Postponement Due To Absence of Two

Common Council action last night authorized $81,688 in budget notes for various city purposes, but recessed again to Nov. 12 to consider a requested $37,872.49 for public works equipment.

Half of the $50,000 in budget notes requested by the water department was authorized with indication that the rest will be provided when needed. Of the other sums, $40,000 is to cover snow removal costs, $12,500 is to cover a budget gap because of transfer of school tax collection to the education department, and $4,188 is to cover unanticipated expenditures.

Of the latter, $1,488 is to cover an added sum needed for the New York State Employes Retirement Fund, and $2,700 is to pay for additional help needed because of illness in the city treasurer's office.

Perry, Mayes Absent

Absence of Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry and First Ward Alderman Hirschell Mayes was a factor in delaying action until next week on the sum needed for public works equipment. Alderman Mayes, according to Alderman William A. Davis, 11th Ward, is ill with a cold. It was the first meeting he missed in nine years.

The public sums to be considered next week are $31,940.45 for purchase of six trucks with dump bodies, and $5,932.04 is for two road spreaders.

Water Board Needs

The water department noted that more was expended than anticipated due to the cost of $25,000 covering the 1957-58 drouth conditions, an emergency situation; the necessity for immediate construction of a valut for cleaning conduits at a cost of approximately $13,000, the need for $6,000 to cover retroactive social security for department personnel, and $3,000 above the amount anticipated for general school tax.

The water board pays general and school taxes in towns where it has facilities.

Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, majority leader, explained that cutting the sum requested was not meant to be a curtailment. He had determined, he said, that the $25,000 would be sufficient for the present, and more will be authoriztd as needed.

$110,000 Claims Filed

Two claims totaling $110,000 for injuries suffered by children were filed and referred to the corporation counsel.

Mary Magdelene Rattelty, of 218 Catherine Street, represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John, filed a claim for $100,000 for injuries suffered by her son, William S. Ratteley, in a coasting accident last winter at Tompkins Street and East Strand. The boy, while riding a sled, came in contact with a vehicle.

It is charged that the city, "without adequate safeguards"

Comments on U. S. Voting

Foreign Press Sees No Policy Changes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Newspapers around the world today put U.S. foreign policy under the microscope in the light of the Democratic victory in Tuesday's election.

Some took the view that the Republican party was defeated on the issue of foreign policy. Others professed to see no change in foreign policy resulting from the election.

Lack of Confidence Seen

Berlin's newspapers—both East and West—said the U.S. voter lost confidence in the Eisenhower administration.

West Berlin papers said the reasons for the Republican defeat were: The recession, the Sherman Adams case, and diplomatic setbacks abroad, especially on the Quemoy question.

In East Berlin, the Communist party organ Neues Deutschland said the election proved the American public is tired of what it called Secretary of States Dulles' policy of "balancing on the brink of war." It denounced both Democrats and Republicans, saying that even though the Democrats have won there will be no real change in foreign policy.

In President Nasser's United Arab Republic province of Syria, Damascus papers said the vote would bring no radical changes in U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East.

Japs See Uneasiness

In the Far East, the Chinese Nationalists papers in Taipei agreed there would be no drastic change in Washington's Formosa policy.

Peiping radio, broadcasting Red China's reaction, said "the great defeat of the Republican party has reflected the serious failure and crisis of the U.S. foreign and domestic policies" but saw no major changes in foreign policy.

In Japan, the newspaper Nihon Keizai said the Democratic victory "may have been due to uneasiness among the U.S. people against Dulles policies in the Middle East, Formosa, the racial integration issue, decline in Eisenhower's leadership, the Sherman Adams case and unemployment."

Aldermen Named To Study Library Finance Problem

A Common Council committee was named last night to assist in solving a financial problem of the City of Kingston Library, after the aldermen were informed that it faces closing without sufficient assistance.

A copy of a letter to Mayor Edwin F. Radel from J. R. Shults, president of the library, read at the session, said the library financially was in a "critical plight."

Council President Harold L. Kaye named aldermen Donald M. Hastings, Lawrence Woerner, James K. Ryan and Clark W. Myers as the committee.

City Gives $16,000

Conditions which permitted the operation of the library on a budget of approximately half the size of those in any community of like size in the state, "to a large degree have ceased to exist," the letter said.

The 1958 city budget item for the library was $16,000. It gets $100 from the state annually. Funds for the building on Central Broadway were provided by the Carnegie Foundation.

Now, said the letter, the library is faced with the problem of gaining a substantially increased budget, or the alterna-

Moon Rocket Set For Friday Will Have New Device

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's new moon rocket — which may go aloft early Friday — will be equipped with a device designed to correct any deviation from its planned trajectory.

Such a deviation was a key factor in keeping the last moon rocket, fired Oct. 11, from reaching the vicinity of the moon.

But even with the new device, chances of success in the coming moonshot are put at no better than 1 in 25.

The new wrinkle is a special modification of the moon rocket's radio system. Its function is to encourage more speed if the rocket deviates from its planned trajectory in the early stages of flight.

In the Oct. 11 shot, the rocket began its trajectory 3½ degrees higher than intended. The result was it had a tougher fight with the earth's gravitational pull. Its ultimate speed thus fell some 500 miles an hour short of what it needed to reach the vicinity of the moon, some 222,000 miles away.

Won't Change Course

The new corrective device will ride in the second of the four stages of the rocket. If there is an error in trajectory pitch, its job would be to automatically delay the cutting off of the second stage's engine.

The system wouldn't be expected to change the course of the rocket. But the hope would be that the added speed would enable it to zoom its instrumented payload to a point in space where the gravity of the moon might take off.

Financial Report Of Thruway Shows Road Makes Money

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Thruway reports it has taken in enough money since Jan. 1 to more than meet operating costs and debt service for the first nine months of this year.

Clinton B. F. Brill, Thruway authority chairman, said today that operating revenue for the period totaled $26,706,144 and interest income amounted to $1,058,402.

Income included $23,440,446 from tolls, $3,042,039 from concessions, and $223,659 from miscellaneous sources.

Operating expenses for the period totaled $8,793,454. Debt service for facilities in use ran to $16,097,231, and to $2,726,725 for unopened facilities.

The interest income on unused bonds brought the nine - month profit to $147,135.

Toll revenue for passenger cars was up 9.84 per cent from the 1957 level, and truck tolls showed a 15 per cent gain.

Balloon to Carry Two for Close Look of Mars

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP) — A Navy balloon carrying two scientists will be launched Sunday near Rapid City, S.D., in an effort to learn whether there is enough water on the planet Mars to support plant life.

The Navy said Wednesday Cmdr. Malcolm D. Ross of the Office of Naval Research and Prof. John Strong of John Hopkins University hope to ride the balloon to 80,000 feet after it is launched at 3 p.m.

Using a 16-inch telescope, the balloonists hope to get a much sharper view of Mars than is possible from the earth's surface. They will be above much of the atmosphere and its water vapor.

If the launching is successful, the scientists will ride the sealed gondola-carrying balloon to earth in the Chicago area sometime Monday.

Harvest Festival Planned In New Paltz for '59 Fete

The pageantry of a harvest festival with all community organizations participating will be New Paltz' contribution next fall to the Hudson-Champlain Celebration of 1959.

The final draft of a program to be presented Saturday, October 3, 1959 was outlined today by Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, area historian, serving as chairman of the Hudson-Champlain committee of New Paltz.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of New Paltz will conduct a contest to provide a queen of the harvest festival, who with her attendants will officiate at the exhibits on October 3.

The queen will be selected Friday evening, Oct. 2, and her coronation will take place at the New Paltz volunteer firemen's carnival the next evening.

The stone houses in the area will be open for public inspection during the festival. Members of the Study Club will serve on the stone house exhibit staff.

The stone house program will not interfere with the regular stone house days usually scheduled during the summer months. Guests may visit the houses and no admittance will be charged.

KK Mills Will Remain, Barclay to Port Ewen

Kingston Knitting Mills, Inc., 139 Cornell Street, will utilize floor space vacated by Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc., a companion firm, when the latter moves to its new Port Ewen location, it was learned today.

The announcement was made by Robert E. Davis, president of Kingston Knitting Mills and vice president of Barclay.

Davis told The Freeman that Kingston Knitting Mills will continue its operations at the Cornell Street location and Barclay Knitwear, which he described as the sales unit of the firm, will conduct "warehousing and shipping" activities in Port Ewen.

Both firms announced Monday expansion plans for Barclay, which will more than double its present facilities. Ground was broken last Friday for the construction of a modern, one-story 75,000 square foot building for Barclay on the former Sorbello farm property, Route 9W in Port Ewen.

The contract was signed by Barclay and the Port Ewen Realty Co., and Davis said today that "work is progressing on the new plant."

He stressed that Kingston Knitting Mills is the manufacturing unit of the firm and Barclay is the sales division.

The Barclay plant in Port Ewen will receive the manufactured product from the Kingston and Waterville factories, Davis said, "for warehousing and shipping to the firms customers."

The complete stockroom of finished products, together with Barclay accounting offices, will be located in Port Ewen, he said, where approximately 75,000 square feet of floor space will be available.

Kingston Knitting Mills, Davis said, will occupy the floor space vacated by Barclay in its move from Cornell Street to Port Ewen. This move will provide a total of 60,000 square feet of floor space at its present location, he said.

Kingston Knitting Mills employs 225 persons and Barclay 125. The latter will be transferred to Port Ewen when the move is completed, he said.

Occupancy of the Port Ewen plant, one of the largest buildings erected in this area in recent years, is scheduled for June, 1959.

Harriman's Aide Has Short Memory

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—"I can just see that Rockefeller guy cutting ribbons on all the roads we built," mourned a Harriman press aide in the State Public Works Department.

Maybe he forgot—or maybe he remembered — the times Democratic Gov. Harriman officiated at the opening of highways begun in the Republican administration of Thomas E. Dewey. These included sections of the Thruway, a bit of road once dubbed Dewey's Dreamway by the Democrats.

Nixon Likely to Put Accent on Youth In Trying to Rejuvenate Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon is taking charge of efforts to rejuvenate the disorganized Republican party. He is likely to put the accent on youth in doing so.

Although Nixon won't bear any such official designation as party commander, President Eisenhower obviously is stepping out of the way to let his second man direct the drive. Its aim is to lift the party back into contention in the 1960 presidential contest, after its shattering defeat in Tuesday's election.

At his news conference Wednesday, Eisenhower endorsed Nixon's call on party members to start now to campaign for 1960. The action apparently gave a hardly needed go-ahead to the vice president to take over the GOP political throttle. As a top GOP presidential prospect, Nixon has a personal interest there.

Returns from the balloting showed the Republicans lost 13 Senate seats while gaining none, and were ousted from 48 House seats while overturning only one Democrat. One Illinois post was still undecided. The GOP suffered a net loss of five state Governorships, counting a still tentative upset in normally Republican Nebraska.

The Democrats increased their margin of Senate control from 49-47 to 62-34 and that in the House from 235-200 to 283-151. One side or the other will gain still another seat after an official canvass starting today determines whether Rep. Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill) or Democrat George E. Shipley won a nip-and-tuck contest. Unofficial returns show Shipley leading.

The undecided Nebraska governor race hinges on a count of mail ballots, which could upset the lead Democrat Ralph G. Brooks now holds over Republican Gov. Victor E. Anderson. A Brooks victory would give the Democrats 34 state governorships to 14 for Republicans.

Looking toward 1960, Nixon is expected to bear down in attempts to get attractive, youthful aspirants into races for congressional and state offices as a means of helping the national ticket. He was privately less than enthusiastic about the caliber of some of the candidates for whom he campaigned this year.

Nixon knows well that the GOP candidate who won the most spectacular of the few GOP victories had youth and a pleasing personality going for him. That was Nelson A. Rockefeller, who won the governorship of New York and thus moved into ranking as Nixon's top potential opponent for the 1960 presidential nomination.

May Replace Policies

Nixon also may bring some influence to bear toward reshaping of some of the administration's policies which seem to have helped bowl over Republican candidates.

Staggering Republican losses in the Midwestern farm belt could contribute to some change in farm policies, despite Eisenhower's prediction that Secretary of Agriculture Benson's program of tapering off government aid to farmers will go along unchanged.

Nixon is well aware of labor's shere in the defeat of GOP candidates like Sen. William F. Knowland, who lost his try for the governorship in California, and Sen. John W. Bricker, who lost his bid for re-election in Ohio.

If Nixon has his way, the administration will try to woo back part of the labor vote the Democrats seemed to have corralled almost exclusively in Tuesday's balloting.

Active CR Stand Likely

As presiding officer of the Senate, Nixon plans to give the Republicans an early sendoff in the civil rights field. He is expected to rule, as he did informally two

Bufalino Asks Courts Set Aside His Deportation

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Russell Bufalino wants the courts to set aside his deportation order and permit him to leave the country voluntarily, then re-enter as a permanent resident.

The 57-year-old Kingston dress manufacturer, a native of Sicily, presented his plan Wednesday to U. S. District Judge George A. Welsh.

Bufalino was one of the men accused of attending the so-called gangland meeting a year ago at the home of Joseph Barbara in Apalachin, N. Y.

Soon after the meeting he was arrested by immigration authorities, given a hearing, and ordered deported.

His petition to Judge Welsh, as outlined by his attorney, Claude O. Lanciano, asked the court to:

Set aside the deportation order. Lanciano said the evidence does not justify the administrative findings "in law or in fact and (the order) is unwarranted, arbitrary and capricious."

Order a pre-examination. This would make Bufalino eligible for legal re-entry after his brief voluntary exile. Passing the examination would, in effect assure favorable consideration of his re-entry petition from immigration authorities.

Judge Welsh took the petition under advisement.

At Bufalino's deportation hearing the government presented evidence showing that Bufalino was brought to this country by his family while a small child.

Bufalino claimed that until this evidence was presented, he always thought he was born in the United States.

His presence at the Apalachin meeting, the government said, made him an undesirable alien.

Regarding that meeting, Bufalino said Barbara was an old friend whom he was visiting. He said he had no knowledge of or association with the underworld.

Insult to Injury

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) —Police Chief Bill Frederick knows he'll find slugs and washers along with the money in parking meters. But he says a recent motorist carried things too far. The motorist mailed back the parking-ticket envelope put on his car. Inside was a big washer instead of the 50-cent fine.

Weekly Food Review

WEEKLY FOOD REVIEW
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork is showing its regular seasonal popularity in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores these days.

Some of the more numerous items include pork loin and other roasts, baked hams, the small hams known as "picnics", smoked butts, and bacon. Bulk sausage meat, and the more expensive link sausages, also are popular.

Chicken Cheap

Chicken also is cheap now. Prices in the big Delaware-Maryland-Virginia producing belt last month were the lowest for November in more than 10 years.

Look for favorable prices on shortening and margarine, thanks to less expensive food fats and vegetable oils. Supplies for the marketing year started last month are reported up 15 per cent from the 1957-58 year.

Potatoes once again head the best buys among vegetables, with the important fall crop running 12 per cent ahead of last year. Cauliflower, cabbage, brussels sprouts, mushrooms, celery and lettuce — where available from nearby fields — also are outstanding bargains.

Other Good Bets

Other good bets are iceberg lettuce, southern aquash, nearby spinach, peppers from a variety of places, sweet potatoes, radishes, pumpkins, endive and escarole. Tomatoes are in good supply and moderately priced.

Sweet corn is a bit lower, still on the edge of a good buy, while those who fancy radishes and scallibns will find them cheap.

Apples abound in the fruit departments. Western grapes and pears also are bargains. California oranges and lemons are fairly good buys, while early season oranges and grapefruit from Florida are in the same category.

Airport Development

The Bureau of Aviation of the New York State Department of Commerce aids communities in planning airport development and is the channel for the distribution of federal airport funds in the state.

Ice Island Snaps In Two, Maroons 21 on IGY Work

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Twenty-one men, marooned when a violent polar storm broke their ice island in half, awaited rescue today as howling winds tore at their tiny, exposed floe in the Arctic Ocean.

The Alaskan Air Command, ready to make its rescue move as soon as the storm abates, said the 21 men on the International Geophysical Year station were in no immediate danger.

The ice island, known as Drifting Station A, broke in two Sunday. The island was 960 miles northeast of Barrow, Alaska, and 600 miles northwest of Thule, Greenland.

The 21 men were on the campsite half of the island when it broke apart. The rescue was complicated because the 2,000-foot aircraft runway was on the other half of the mile-long, mile-wide floe.

Before the rescue could be completed, the 11 Air Force men, nine scientists and Father Tom Cunningham, a noted Barrow expert on the polar regions, had to make a dash by small boat across a mile and a half of open water to the runway half of the island.

The huge ice floe, 10 feet thick, was first manned as a floating arctic scientific station in the spring of 1957. It has served as a base for a variety of scientific observations.

Quiet Returns To Quemoy Front

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Quiet returned again today to the Quemoy front. Nationalist defense headquarters said in midafternoon there were no reports of any Communist shelling.

This was one of the even-numbered days on which the Reds are pledged to avoid firing on Nationalist supply areas. The Peiping pledge, however, does not cover other sectors.

Red mainland batteries bombarded the islands with 5,700 shells Wednesday and Nationalist guns returned the fire. That exchange ended shortly before midnight.

Rough weather in the Formosa Strait cost the Nationalists the 320-ton freighter Yung Hsin and its cargo of supplies. The ship sank off Northern Formosa when its main engine broke down and the hull cracked on a voyage to Matsu, off Red China's coast 150 miles north of Quemoy. A naval vessel rescued all 19 crewmen.

Jailed for Cheating

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Budapest Municipal Court has sentenced 40 Hungarians to jail for cheating the Communist government on repairing damage from the 1956 revolt. The sentences are subject to appeal.

The judge said the defendants billed the government for fictitious repairs to undamaged houses and sometimes collected twice for work they did. Their total take was put at the equivalent of about $100,000.

ROME (AP)—The director of an Italian circus was convicted of manslaughter Wednesday because he failed to put a safety net under a trapeze artist who fell and was fatally injured.

The court held him responsible for the death of Jacqueline Rainat, [illegible] acrobat who fell during a performance in Rome in September 1955.

Great Grandmother Is Awarded Child

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — Permanent custody of Cindy Lou Young, 22-month-old survivor of a Northeast Air Lines plane crash here last August, has been given to her great grandmother, Mrs. Dirjke Lamens by Nantucket Probate Judge Jeremiah J. Sullivan.

Cindy Lou was snatched from death out of the arms of her mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Young, 18, who was trapped by her seat belt and died in the flaming plane. John Shea, a New York lawyer, one of nine persons to escape the crash, saved the child.

The accident took 24 lives.

Judge Sullivan's decision, announced today, brought at least a temporary end to a legal battle between Philip Young, 22, of Dayton, Ohio, the child's father and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Duce of Nantucket for custody.

Seminarians Pitch In for Ballot Count

WESTON, Mass. (AP) — Even as a Democratic sweep was being tallied through Massachusetts, town officials couldn't find ough of them to sit up through early Wednesday.

And for lack of Democrats, the vote count in Weston had to be suspended about eight hours.

The law requires a bipartisan count of ballots. Republicans were on hand all right, but there were no Democrats, so the count was held up at 1 a.m.

Finally, at 9 a.m., officials arranged to have some seminarians — registered Democrats — come over from the Jesuits' Weston College to watch the tallying.

THE CHIANG ILLUSION

The Nationalist Chinese plainly are chafing under the frustrations of their odd position.

It was of course with reluctance that Chiang Kai-shek promised Secretary of State Dulles that he would not use force as a principal means of achieving his goal of recapturing the Communist-held mainland.

Since that time, others of his government have made sounds that could be interpreted as a partial repudiation of that pledge. Vice President Chen Cheng talks of the Nationalsits' responsibility to "counterattack against the mainland."

Chiang himself speaks as if he were hedging as much as he could on his promise.

While he publicly places his chief hopes of a mainland return on an anti-Communist uprising there, he declares nevertheless that his government is prepared to rely 70 per cent on political means and but 30 per cent on military means to attain that objective.

There probably is not a military analyst anywhere outside Formosa—if even there—who imagines that a 100 per cent military effort by Chiang's modest forces, let alone a 30 per cent effort, would go far toward the overthrow of the Peiping Red regime.

Thus the real grain of substance in what Chiang says is his hope of internal mainland revolt. Why, then, the persistent necessity for seeming to keep the door open for a Nationalist military effort?

The reason would appear to be that Chiang and his government are trying desperately to sustain an illusion—that he and his forces will in fact reconquer the mainland and restore China to freedom.

All the available evidence suggests there is no prospect of a rebellion against the Red Chinese regime in the long foreseeable future. Chiang must know that the millions of overseas Chinese, whom he believes look to his government for hope, understand this as well as he.

Therefore he cannot quite shut the door on military enterprise. He must dangle this illusion before the hopeful as a slender but perhaps persuasive alternative. For to acknowledge there is no real hope for either military effort or internal uprising would be to announce the futility of his regime.

This Chiang can never do, obviously. For without that illusion he becomes simply the aging governor general of a modest-sized Pacific island.

Maybe it's not right to joke about serious things, but the East-West dispute over how to quit nuclear weapons tests reminds us of two small boys failing to get started on their marbles game because they can't decide whose rules to follow.

AMERICA FACES WEST

It will not be until next summer, probably, that Alaska will be formally proclaimed as America's 49th state. But within less than a month it will have its first true national elections and by January it will be a political reality as a part of the union.

No one can have any doubt that this development will have important effect on the alignments of forces in future Congresses.

The general feeling is that Alaska's two senators will add strength to the evidently growing Western liberal block. Many signs exist of an increasing orientation of the country toward the West, and Alaska simply will give further impetus.

In the West, where the problems often are as big as the spaces, the outlook of the people tends to be expansive. There is also an easier turning of government for solutions, for the federal authority always has played a larger role there than elsewhere.

Thus, as we grow and change, the balances among our varied regions go on shifting to give America new and ever richer patterns of life.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

LEWIS AND PASTERNAK

Sinclair Lewis won a Nobel Prize for literature the same as Boris Pasternak did. Sinclair Lewis was actually the first American to be so honored. Like Boris Pasternak, Lewis was a satirist who described life in his own country in such a way as to mirror the weakness and foibles of our people. Certainly, "Main Street," "Babbitt," "Elmer Gantry" were in the manner and spirit of "Doctor Zhivago." "Babbitt" and "Babbittry" became words in the language, meaning a particular type of American, a conforming middle-class American.

Perhaps Sinclair Lewis's descriptions of his fellow citizens were not quite understood and may have been bad propaganda for this country. Perhaps that is why he is one of the most read American writers in Russia—he and Mark Twain. But Americans honored Sinclair Lewis. They were proud of his achievements while he lived. His books were widely circulated. Many are still required reading in English courses in our colleges. His name is not likely to be forgotten.

The American people do not fear satire or criticism or outright attack upon themselves. Apparently the Russians do. They are so overcome by Boris Pasternak's enormous success for his "Doctor Zhivago" that the man will be fortunate if he comes out of his present difficulties alive. Or, and this one hates to believe, other writers are anxious that he should be given the Nobel Prize and so they expel him from the Writers Union which means, of course, that he cannot work any more as a poet and novelist and may perhaps go to the gold mines on the Lena River in the tundras of Siberia to work as a slave. Or, he may die from a broken heart because the pressure put upon him recently is almost unbearable.

And there may be still another side to all this, a very ugly side. Boris Pasternak is of Jewish parentage. As a Communist, he can have no religion, but as a writer who has criticized the Communists, he becomes a Jew again. Thus when Trotzky was building the Revolution, he was a Russian patriot, but when Stalin desired to kill him, he was attacked as a Jew.

Nikita Khrushchev, who comes from the Ukraine, (Ukrainian protests will be ignored; I do not like him either) is an anti-Semite. Whether that is policy because of his relationship with the Arabs or a boyhood impression, it is difficult to say.

But back in 1903, when Nikita Khrushchev was a boy, the great Bessarabian pogroms, centering in Kishineff, and affecting the neighboring Ukraine, took place and they must have had an influence upon him as they did upon everybody else in that area. Those pogroms were organized to divert attention from the mal-administration of Russia by the Czarist government and were followed by the miserable failure of the Russo-Japanese War and by an abortive provocated revolution. These were great events.

It is Nikita Khrushchev who is persecuting Boris Pasternak. To deprive him of the Nobel Prize—that is distressing but a man can live without a prize. Sinclair Lewis once refused a Pulitzer Prize as ridiculous. This does not matter one way or the other. But to deprive an artist of his right to work at his art; to pillory a man for his ideas; to destroy the intellectual initiative of a noble mind—that is murder of the soul. Khrushchev, who criticized Stalin for such a deed, is much worse than Stalin. He represents a besotted personality that dares not face the truth, lest the truth haunt him. Boris Pasternak is only a writer who will live in the memory of men a decade, a century—who knows? We still read Chekov, Gogol, Tolstoy and Gorki in whose tradition he writes. Gorki once chastised Chaliapin for singing the Russian national anthem; what would Gorki have said to Khrushchev, for breaking on the wheel of life a great spirit whose only crime is that he writes of life as he sees life?

One wonders what the great liberal and neutralist, Nehru of India, now has to say of all this. Is he still neutral between liberty and the enslavement of the soul? Is he still defending the big lie that Soviet Russia is a democratic country? Nehru needs to speak now or forever be silent. Should Pasternak be killed or his art silenced, Khrushchev is surely responsible.

Parent Should Seek Reason For Child's Balky Behavior

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

It is often hard to know where a physical condition leaves off and an emotional problem begins. This is illustrated in a letter from Mrs. J.

She says that her 4-year-old daughter attended Bible school one day and was ill the next and could not go. The third day she was excited about going, but when the man came to pick her up she cried and kicked and would not get in the car.

The mother says that she is punishing the little girl by making her stay in her room all day and asks if this is right.

I should like to say first that I do not think that it is right to make a 4-year-old little girl stay in her room all day. A day is terribly long at that age. It seems to me that the punishment does not fit the crime.

There can be any number of reasons why the 4-year-old decided she did not want to go back to Bible school. She may not have been feeling well from her one-day illness. She may have had some unpleasant experience with one of the other children, or she may have found the school too advanced for her tender age.

I believe that the problem is neither to punish the little girl, nor force her unduly, but to try to find out why she does not want to go.

If her reasons are good, perhaps this experience can be postponed until she is a bit older. It is also possible that once the reason is found it can be readily corrected. But some reason is surely there.

A question comes from another mother who asks whether there is any better way of selecting toys for her children than just looking at them in the store.

This question can be answered by referring to the new booklet entitled "Toys," recently released by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (11 South La Salle St., Chicago 3, Ill.—price $1).

This booklet is to help parents select toys in conformity with the child's growth and development. It is particularly useful for parents of children who are physically handicapped or awkward, since it includes the choice of toys for the training of reaching, grasping, eye and hand coordination, and the like. However, it should also be extremely helpful to the parents of normal children.

Letters to this column frequently make me feel sorry both for parents and for children.

One lady wrote recently, "I have a friend who has a darling 3-months-old baby girl. My friend has bad nerves and her baby sometimes has the colic. This upsets the mother very much and she loses her temper, screaming at the child and slapping its rear very hard. At other times she is loving toward the baby. But I feel that she can hurt this child physically or emotionally."

Colic in infants is generally the result of air in the digestive tract, which causes sharp pain. When the child gets a little older this disappears since the air is expelled more readily.

I am sure that the mother of this, or any other colicky child, gets upset by the crying. However, the baby cannot help it, and it can only be upsetting to all concerned for the mother to lose her temper. A pediatrician should be consulted and may be able to make some suggestions to reduce the colic and thereby help both mother and child.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The new food additive amendment to pure food and drug laws presents the chemical and food processing industries with a new public relations problem. It is to make housewives understand what certain chemicals added to prepared foods are all about—good and bad.

When the first pure food law was passed in 1906 the basic philosophy was that any chemicals added to foods—principally to preserve or adulterate them—were bad.

Fifty years of advancing food chemistry have changed that concept considerably. Now it is appreciated that some food additives may be beneficial. Like vitamins.

Discovery and use of vitamins is one of the great all-time advances in food technology. Vitamin additives prevent nutritional deficiency diseases like pellagra, which used to take 3,000 lives a year.

Addition to salt of micro-amounts of iodine—itself a poison—and wider use of sea foods have all but eliminated goiter.

Calcium and sodium propionate additives in bread prevent mold. In small amounts, these are harmless chemicals found in natural foods like Swiss cheese.

OTHER CHEMICALS may be added safely to prepared mixes to keep ingredients in good condition. Many processed foods now sold in supermarkets would be impossible without additives. Still, they are distrusted by many housewives.

The long chemical names on the packages are confusing. Housewives can't buy them and they're not in the cookbooks.

Sensational magazines have overplayed the dangers of food additives. These have created scares that all additives are dangerous. The public relations job is to kill the fear.

At first the food and chemical industries opposed all moves to bring additives under government regulation. Then the light began to penetrate. Food processors realized that their industry would be operating under a handicap unless some system was devised to clear beneficial additives.

THIS YEAR THE CONGRESS, Food and Drug Administration and the food industry all began to give a little. The resulting legislation isn't as stiff as some of the early drafts. But Food and Drug Administrator George P. Larrick considers the new additive law adequate legislation for what it's supposed to do. The problem now is to make it work.

Several classes of additives have already been put under government regulation by previous legislation. They're exempted from the new food additives amendment.

For instance, additives used in meat products have already been tested and approved by the Department of Agriculture meat inspection division.

Pesticides—over 100 chemical bug killers which are sprayed or dusted on growing food crops were brought under regulation in 1954. Tolerance limits have been established for the amount of pesticide that may remain on the marketed fruits or vegetables without impairing their safety for human consumption.

Coal tar derivative food dyes were brought under legal control in 1938 after nearly 50 years of voluntary testing.

Silbesterol products—hormone-like chemicals used in fattening chickens and speeding the growth of beef cattle—were brought under control in the 1954 pretesting law. Any chemicals added to livestock feeds are considered drugs. The safety test is that only harmless amounts of the chemicals may be found in the flesh as it reaches the butcher's counter or the kitchen.

THE NEW LAW COVERS both additives put directly in food products and indirect additives like special fats and oils used in greasing cooking utensils or chemicals used in cleaning cooking vats and pipelines in canneries.

The new irradiated foods are also brought under the additive amendment. Tests must show that the amount of radiation needed to preserve food and the process for applying it do not make the product unsafe for humans. This is one of the big new developments in long-time food storage.

Homogenizing

Milk, to be homogenized, is put under a pressure of 2,000 to 3,000 pounds per square inch. Then it is forced through valves which break up the fat globules into tiny particles, so tiny that they do not rise to the top of the bottle, but stay mixed with the milk.

Election Outcome Is Laid To a Twofold Discontent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Discontent—blamed on the party in power in the White House—has won another Congressional election in the middle of a Presidential term. It happened against Taft in 1910, against Hoover in 1930 and against Eisenhower in 1954, as well as against Wilson in 1918 before the end of World War I, and against Truman in 1946 just after World War II ended.

This time is was a twofold discontent. It involved not only economic issues such as unemployment, cost of living and high taxes, but also emotional resentments over several questions unrelated to the economic controversies of the day.

Millions of conservatives on the Republican side didn't vote. They were alienated by so-called "modern Republican" doctrines which they consider radical, or by the use of Federal troops in the Little Rock schools or by bitterness stirred up in some states during the anti-McCarthy battle.

New Jersey lost a chance to elect a Republican Senator, and so did Wisconsin because of the deep-seated friction over some of these emotional questions. In Utah, due to a party split, Sen. Watkins, Republican, who was chairman of the Senate Committee that "censored" the late Sen. McCarthy, was defeated. The combined vote of the two Republican candidates exceeded that of the winning Democrat.

Several members of the House on the Republican side lost votes in those rural districts of Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland where voters condemned the Republican administration attitude on enforced integration in the schools. The Republican, for example, who won in the 10th Congress District of Virginia, Joel Broyhill, did so largely because in the opinion of many voters, he appeared to be on the segregation side of the argument.

Write-In in Arkansas

At Little Rock, Ark., by a remarkable "write-in" vote launched in the last ten days of the campaign, a segregationist candidate, Dr. Dale Alford of the school board, running as an independent, defeated Rep. Brooks Hays, Democrat, a veteran of eight terms in the House. As for any gains in the Republican party among the Negro voters in the North, these were almost negligible.

The "recession" really beat the Republicans. Farm income has declined in recent years. This hurt the Republicans in the Middle West. Although business has been improving slowly, the upward movement still wasn't adequate to overcome the economic discontent, especially in farm states like Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and also in California, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, where the unemployment issue was almost as much a vote-getter for the opposition party as it was when Franklin Roosevelt swept the country in 1932 due to the depression of that period.

Outcome Predicted

None of this can be said to have been unexpected. When the "recession" began to make its appearance in 1957, and the Federal Reserve Board started curtailing bank credit, this correspondent in May, August, September and October, 1957, wrote several dispatches predicting that the 1958 election would certainly be lost to the Republicans. Here is the appraisal made as of Oct. 27, 1957—a little more than a year ago:

"If the elections were held today, the Republicans would elect fewer than 100 members of the House—almost as low a number as they had after the 1932 election, when Franklin Roosevelt won his first term. As things look now, it is likely the Republicans will lose many seats in the Senate in the 1958 election, and that the Democratic majority in both houses will be the biggest in recent years."

The election this week would appear to have brought the Republican total in the House down from 200 to around 153 as compared to 282 for the Democrats. The Senate Republican total has gone down from 47 to 34 as compared with 62 for the Democrats. But for the intensive effort of the President and Vice-President in the last few weeks, the results might have been as bad for the Republicans as were outlined by this writer a year ago.

The Republican party's wounds will not soon be healed. Nelson Rockefeller's victory in New York State for Governor—due largely to his winning personality—will give the promoters of dissension among Republicans still more opportunity to cry out that a new deal or "modern Republican" approach and a big spending program is the best way for the Republican party to get votes and not by the sound economics preached by the conservatives.

Labor Was Active

The Republicans did not have enough money in the national campaign this time. Many conservatives who have contributed generously in the past were alienated. Some came back at the last minute. Money, of course, cannot buy a national election. But the labor unions which poured millions of dollars into the campaign in key areas throughout the country in the form of services of precinct workers and expensive publicity on television, radio and billboards did an effective job in getting indifferent voters to the polls.

The "right-to-work" issue in several states, especially Ohio, brought out a big labor-union vote because the proposal was misrepresented by the labor unions as a measure that would eliminate the "union shop." This misleading phrase was used to give the impression that the law would actually prohibit the continuance of unions.

The Federal law, of course, guarantees a majority of union members legal recognition as a bargaining agent for all members of a shop, and state laws can't take this away.

Issue Not Dead

The "right-to-work" law for states, on the other hand, concerns the right of the minority as individuals to resign as a protest which includes the right to quit paying dues to a gangster-dominated union. The issue is far from dead, as it will be noted that Sen. Goldwater, Republican champion of "right-to-work" laws, won a decisive victory in Arizona, though he was the target of heavy attack by the labor unions.

The fight for liberation and democracy inside the labor unions has just begun, and the fight for sound conservative principles in the policies of our national government will have to be pressed more vigorously than ever before inside both political parties if an inflationary crash and a real depression, due to unbalanced budgets and excessive spending, are to be prevented.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

It is just a half century ago, April 1908, that Officer Simon Wood was appointed patrol and ambulance driver by the police board. Officer Wood began his service in the days of the horse-drawn ambulance and the patrol wagon which was known as "the Black Maria." When the department was motorized he continued to drive the auto ambulance and the police cars. The ambulance service was maintained by the police department for a number of years. It was also said, that the ambulance and patrol wagons, were two different wagons, driven by the same driver. The patrol wagon was used daily, the ambulance stood idle for days at a time sometimes.

Another item dated April 4, 1916, making it some 42 years ago which reads: The Board of Police Commissioners April 4, 1916, decided to purchase a Bertillon finger printing system at a cost of slightly more than $400. The equipment was later purchased and was operated by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, who had made an intensive study of finger printing.

No doubt some of those who were youngsters in Kingston in the early 1900's remember Policemen William Ryan and Patrick J. White who retired on Jan. 16, 1921. Both men had rounded out about a quarter of a century, as foot patrolmen. During the many years they served on the force they were widely know and knew everybody. Both were men of powerful build and great strength. Item said at the time. To me, years ago, all the patrolmen looked tall, broad, and were very serious. They seldom joked, they were polite to grown-ups, and often children held their breath when they went by.

May 1917, the Kingston Police Department sold its horses. That was the team that had hauled the old famous Black Maria, as the patrol wagon was called, and also the ambulance. They also had a saddle horse which they use to patrol the outlying section of the city. The team of horses was sold to Joseph Worem of Tannersville, and the saddle horse to Elmer Palen, who sold it at once to Luther Deyo of Rosendale.

This was the beginning of motorized police department in Kingston. A Ford, with a specially built ambulance body, took the place of the horse-drawn affair. The saddle horse was replaced by an Emerson automobile, which was made right here in Kingston at the Emerson Auto Plant, Grand Street now occupied by Electrol.

The Police Board Dec. 15, 1919, had an important meeting and decided to increase the Police Chief's salary to $2,400 a year, and two sergeants to $1,830 a year, while the policemen's pay was raised to $120 a month, that is, after they had served three years on the force.

Sept. 1, 1914, the Board of Police Commissioners decided to install a police telephone signal system with some 19 telephones stationed in various parts of Kingston. Above each box or near it was installed a red electric light bulb which would light up when a signal was pressed at police headquarters, notifying the officer on that post to call in headquarters. This red bulb was used at night, and during the day a horn was used to call the patrolman on the beat, July 1931 the teletype machine was installed in police headquarters and its use was begun in Ausust of that year.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With a new Congress elected, business and financial circles are asking today what it will do about two questions worrying a lot of people:

1. Still another federal deficit with all its inflationary pressures.

2. The wage-price spiral which can bring about the same thing—a further boost to the cost of living.

The old Congress which officially turns over the reins in a couple of months raised government spending at a time when tax collections were falling because of the recession. The result is a 12-billion-dollar Treasury deficit.

At the moment the cost of living is rising slowly in some sectors but is being held on an over-all level keel by lower food prices.

The first stages of financing the U. S. Treasury defici twas being worked out without as much inflation of the money supply as first feared, because nonbanking concerns are taking up a sizable hunk of the new securities—due to their sharply higher yields — and because the federal reserve system is trying to keep credit as tight as it can without discouraging the business recovery.

But banking circles aren't sure how long this can last — especially if the new Congress should prove even more generous than the old one in appropriating money for government agencies to spend.

Bank economists hold that as long as deficits continue speculation will be a strong force, especially in the stock market. They point out that "the expectation of inflation tends to encourage the buying of stocks, commodities, real estate, or anything else that is free to rise in price as money depreciates."

The second aspect of a rising cost of living — continuing wage and price boosts — leads some to advocate controls. This brings a strong protest from many bankers. They hold controls just won't work — except partially during times of emergency like war.

Stop building up inflationary pressures by deficit spending, the bankers urge the incoming Congress. Prices themselves are the natural expressions and the natural regulators of the strongest forces that exist in economic life. Don't tamper with them — say the bankers.

Pilot Loses Life In Crash of C45

TOWN CREEK, Ala. (AP)—An Air Force C45 crashed in rough country two miles west of this northwest Alabama village late Wednesday night. The pilot was killed and three other airmen were injured.

An official at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, where the twin-engine craft was stationed, identified the victim as Lt. Col. Ralph W. Mitchell, 36, Atlanta. He was attending the Air University at Maxwell.

The injured, taken to a hospital at Sheffield, were listed as Lt. Col. Fred P. Wright, 40, Milledgeville, Ga.; Lt. Col. Stanley H. Bear, 37, York, Pa.; and Sgt. Archie M. Golson, 46, Birmingham, all passengers and stationed at Maxwell.

Rescuers found the three injured airmen more than an hour before they found the main fuselage section, which contained Mitchell's body.

The Maxwell spokesman said the plane was en route from Orlando, Fla., and had been rerouted to nearby Muscle Shoals because of adverse landing conditions at Maxwell.

He said the cause of the crash had not been learned.

Rotron Surprises The Boss With All-Time Sales Marks

J. C. van Rijn, president of Rotron Manufacturing Company, returned from a six-week European business trip to find that the company had broken two shipping records during his absence.

Company shipments totaled $392,000 in September and over $400,000 in October for the two best months in the history of the company.

In a meeting held in the plant on November 4, Mr. van Rijn commended his people on their fine performance and personally handed a $20 bill to each employe — $10 for each record breaking effort. This has been a custom of some standing at Rotron and, needless to say, a very popular one with the employes.

Budget Hearing Is Set Tonight For Town Hall

A public hearing on the preliminary budget for the township of Woodstock is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at Town Hall and will be followed by the regular monthly meeting of the Town Board.

The board will submit a budget designed to raise $105,092.40 by general taxes. The figure does not represent county charges.

The preliminary budget shows figures for the general fund, several town departments and boards, water and light districts, fire and fire protection districts, salaries for town officials, highway funds, recreation commission.

Salary for officials which already have been published according to law in legal notices announcing the budget hearing show $3,800 for the town supervisor and town clerk, each up $300 from last year; $2,400 for two justices of the peace; $960 for two councilmen; $2,900 for three assessors and $4,200 for the town superintendent of highways.

The total highway fund which is broken down in two items relating to such things as bridge fund, machinery, snow removal, repair, miscellaneous etc. amounts to $78,972.40, up from the 1958 figure of $72,517.99. Of this total, $32,800 is alloted for the bridge fund.

The budget also lists items of $1,900 for the Woodstock light district; $400, Woodstock Gardens light district; Woodstock fire district (township) $9,875 from $9,460. The proposed budget item for the Woodstock water district is $5,000, down from $6,000.

Fire Companies All Have Trucks

All four companies in town are now equipped with fire trucks, Fire Chief George Haythorne announced at the November meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1.

One truck was moved from No. 1 in Woodstock to No. 2 in Wittenberg. The truck was moved to No. 3 in Lake Hill and the truck of that company was moved to No. 4 in Zena, Chief Haythorne reported. He also announced there were only two fires in the township during the month of October.

Chief Engineer Robert Smith reported that the emergency truck was now back in service. The truck has been repainted white and all equipment attached. It now needs only to be lettered.

Chief Haythorne reported that with four companies now in the town, it will be necessary to revise the systems of communication between them. The company was informed that the fire commission now has this matter under consideration.

There was a second reading of minor changes in the by-laws and members are to be notified that the vote of approval will be held at the next meeting.

"Where to Find God" Topic for Rev. Sands

"Where to Find God" is the theme the Rev. G. Oliver Sands has chosen from his sermon on the 23rd Sunday after Trinity, Nov. 9, at the 11 a. m. service in Christ Lutheran Church. Many people feel they can find God by themselves in nature and places of scenic beauty and, indeed, we are always reminded of God and His Glory in such places, but Matt. 18:20 tells us where we may be sure to find Him: "Where two or three are gathered in My name, there am I in the midst of them and that to bless."

Ike Contradicts Own Thinking on '60 Plans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower—in his first news conference after the Republicans' smashing defeat Tuesday—gave no indication he knows how to revitalize the party or even that he will be active in trying to.

He not only appeared puzzled as to why the Democrats won by a landslide but at times in his meeting with newsmen Wednesday seemed to contradict his own thinking on how to plan to win in the 1960 elections.

Sees 'Spending Wing'

Asked what he thought caused the Democratic victory, he said the people apparently didn't pay any attention to his warning about the "spender wing" of the Democratic party. He renewed his pledge to fight unnecessary federal spending.

But it was Eisenhower himself who in 1957 and again in 1958 asked the Democratic-run Congress to approve record peacetime spending budgets.

Although he hammered repeatedly on his determination to reduce spending—and was repeatedly asked where he'd make the cuts—he didn't name a single area that would feel the ax.

He said frankly he didn't know when asked what factors he thought caused the Republican defeat.

But he said he agreed with Vice President Nixon that the Republicans "are prone to campaign very hard the last week or two weeks, or two months of an election, and they don't fight between elections."

Follows Same Course

Then he added he agrees with Republican Chairman Meade Alcorn that: "If the Republicans don't start fighting this morning, this very day for the next election, they're going to be in a bad way, and I believe this is true throughout the country."

Right here is where he showed contradictions.

The very fault he found with the Republicans—that they fight only the last few weeks before an election and not between elections — is the same course he has followed himself.

Between elections he has taken a position above the political strife, trying to get along with Democrats and Republicans alike, and to avoid partisan political bickering.

Then, just before each election, he gets very active and goes out to campaign.

Cites Own Role

A few minutes after saying the Republicans ought to start right now fighting to win the 1960 election, he was asked what he thought his role in the 1960 campaign would be. He said: "I am not even thinking about that election at this time."

And he said further: "My role for the next two years is to do exactly my very best to carry on the responsibilities and duties of the presidency."

While agreeing Republicans should start fighting at once, he indicated he hopes to get along well with the Democrats running Congress.

This is the opposite of the way former President Truman performed: he played politics between elections by banging away at the Republicans and then looking forward eagerly to coast-to-coast campaigning before elections. He's still doing that.

Eisenhower explained he will try to get along with the Democrats for the good of the country.

He told the newsmen he doesn't see in the election returns anything that indicates the people of the country want his administration to do anything differently.

He added: "If I'm wrong, I'd like to know what it is."

Will Ask Warrant To Force Barbara To Meet Probers

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacob Grumet, chairman of the State Investigation Commission, said today the commission would apply for a warrant of arrest for Joseph Barbara Sr., to compel him to appear before the commission and testify about the gangland meeting at his palatial home in Apalachin, N. Y., last Nov. 14.

Grumet made that disclosure to reporters after the elder Barbara had failed to answer a subpoena tacked to his door last Sept. 30. The subpoena called upon him to appear at a hearing today in the Criminal Courts Building.

Barbara was unavailable for comment.

Wife Clams Up

The Associated Press called the Barbara home in Apalachin. Mrs. Barbara answered. Told about the investigation commission action, she said "I don't know anything about it."

Asked whether her husband were at home, she replied: "I don't care to give out any information."

She was asked whether she had any other comment. "Im' sorry I don't," she answered.

Testimony was given at the hearing about how state police circled his home more than a dozen times on Sept. 30 telling Barbara through a "bullhorn" that could be heard a quarter-mile away about the contents of the subpoena that had been affixed to his front door.

Other testimony and evidence were produced in an effort to show that Barbara Sr. was not so ill that he could not appear.

Grumet commented at the hearing that the older Barbara "has never appeared anywhere." After the hearing, a commission spokesman said that Barbara Sr. had claimed he was "about to die" when his testimony was sought by the Legislative Watchdog Committee and the office of then act-Arthur L. Reuter late last year and early this year.

Grumet said that after further testimony at the hearing and the drawing up of necessary papers the application for the warrant of arrest would be made in Supreme Court.

A commission spokesman said the intent of a subpoena was to notify the recipient that his presence was desired at a hearing. The spokesman said the commission believed therefore that use of the bullhorn more than a dozen times at a maximum distance of 12 feet from the house plus the tacking of the subpoena to the door represented sufficient service on Barbara Sr.

Casts Doubt on Illness

The testimony which purported to cast doubt on the older Barbara's plea of illness was given by Sgt. Joseph J. Benenadi of the state police Criminal Investigation Division who also told of his unsuccessful efforts to serve the subpoena personally and of his use of the "bullhorn."

He testified that on Oct. 15 an Endicott city policeman, Charles Wilcox, reported that on Oct. 8 he had seen Barbara Sr. being driven in a car operated by Barbara Jr., on Main Street headed towards Barbara's house.

Also, William Walsh, assistant counsel to the commission, introduced into evidence an application by Barbara Sr., for a renewal of his driver's license last May, after he had pleaded illness to the other state agencies.

Earlier, Grumet, in granting adjournments for the hearings of three other prospective witnesses, had expressed skepticism of "a sudden epidemic of illness" that kept some of them away.

Grumet also revealed that 11 state residents have either gone into hiding or left the state to avoid subpoenas. He said they "might just as well come in" because the commission would be in business for years.

He suggested, however, that if they stayed out of New York "maybe there would be a little healthier climate" in this state.

Miss Emily Rice Dies Here Today

Miss Emily V. Rice of 100 Wurts Street died suddenly at Benedictine Hospital this morning. Miss Rice was born in Kingston and had lived here all her life. She was well known for her many years of active participation in civic and community affairs and for outstanding work among most of the community charitable activities.

She was a daughter of the late Senator Jacob and Sophie Derrenbacher Rice. Miss Rice is survived by three sisters, Miss Estelle M. Rice and Miss Margaret D. Rice both of Kingston, Miss Mathilde T. Rice of New York City; a brother Frank V. Rice of Yonkers. She was also a sister of the late Misses Sotie and Helen Rice, Maurice, Edward and William Rice. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Miss Rice was a faithful and devout member of St. Peter's Church where she was a member of the Rosary Society. She was a director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association and also a member of the Board of Trustees of the New York State Senate House Association.

Funeral will be held Monday 9:30 a. m. from the late residence and from St. Peter's Church at 10 a. m. where a solemn high Mass of requiem will be offeerd for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call at the residence Sunday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Check the Kitchen

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) —Five volunteer firemen dashed out of a recent civic club meeting at Wise's Restaurant when the fire siren blasted. Driving toward city hall, they met the fire truck and turned to follow. It led them right back to Wise's, where a kitchen fire had been put out shortly after the alarm was phoned to city hall.

Marine Corps Celebrates 183rd Anniversary Monday

On November 10 the United States Marine Corps will celebrate the 183rd year of a long and glorious panorama of courageous, unselfish service that dates back to 1775, when the corps was established by an act of the Continental Congress.

The U. S. Marines ended their war with Barbary Pirates by planting the Stars and Stripes over the fallen stronghold at Tripoli, after a 600 mile march over the deserts of North Africa. In the War of 1812 they fought on Lake Champlain and Lake Erie and with General Jackson behind the barricades at New Orleans.

Under General Scott they stormed the Halls of Montezuma during the Mexican War of 1846-48 and there the first stirring verse of the well-known Marine Corps Hymn was composed.

During the Spanish-American War a single battalion of Marines seized and held what is now the naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, wresting it from 6,000 Spaniards and guerrillas.

The Marines were again called to action and helped quell the Boxer Rebellion in China in 1900, and from then until World War II the men of the Corps campaigned in the Philippines, Cuba, Mexico, Haiti and Santo Domingo to protect American lives and property.

During the first World War the U. S. Marines carved a permanent niche in history through their heroic efforts at Belleau Wood, St. Mihiel, Champagne and the Meuse-Argonne. It was also during the first World War the Marines received the name "Devil Dogs" from the Germans who had a great respect for their fighting ability.

In World War II the U. S. Marines were instrumental in setting the stage for victory in the Pacific. As a direct result of their fabulous exploits while engaged in battle with the Japanese, the Marine Corps earned new respect and prestige for their country and the fighting spirit of their elite Corps.

The banner of the United Nations raised over Korea once again found the Marines responding to a call for assistance from a beleaguered nation. Poised and ready the Marine Corps once again fanned the flames of military greatness with their epic, heroic deeds at Seoul, Inchon and the Chosin Reservoir.

Unsettled world condiions today dictate that each nation maintain a standing armed force ready to deal with armed aggression either on their own shores or foreign land. Today as in the years past, the ever ready land, sea, air team of the United States Marine Corps stands poised and ready to defend American lives and property throughout the world. It is a force that is ready now and can truly be called America's first line of defense.

28 on Cuban Plane Are Safe

HAVANA (AP) — A missing Cuban airliner seized in flight by rebels is parked on a rebel airstrip and all 28 aboard are safe, a qualified source said today.

The informant said thi was confirmed by radio messages from the plane at the airstrip, somewhere in eastern Cuba, stronghold of Fidel Castro's rebels. The plane vanished Wednesday night.

The message said the rebels would turn over all the 25 passengers including one American—to International Red Cross representatives as soon as possible. Apparently, the rebels will hold the three-man crew.

Suit Is Filed Against Woman Solon by Mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andrew Knutson, husband of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) has pending in federal court here a suit against his wife's executive secretary for $200,000 for alienation of affections and slander.

The action was filed Wednesday by Knutson's attorney, Benedict S. Fitzgerald, who said it had been prepared months ago but Knutson delayed filing so as not to influence the results of Tuesday's election.

Mrs. Knutson, a former schoolteacher who has served two terms in Congress, was defeated in the election.

The suit asks $100,000 from William Kjeldahl, 29, Mrs. Knutson's executive secretary, on each of the two counts. Fitzgerald said the next step will be to serve papers on Kjeldahl who he said is in Minnesota.

Knutson charged in the papers filed here that Kjeldahl interfered with his marital rights and contrived to injure Knutson in the enjoyment of the companionship of his wife. The papers say the slander allegation was based upon a reference that Kjeldahl had made to Knutson.

Mrs. Knutson could not be reached in Minnesota. An aide who answered the telephone in her office in Moorhead, Minn., indicated Mrs. Knutson would have nothing further to say at present about the lawsuit.

Tuscarora's Agree To Delay Talks Over Land Grab

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The State Power Authority and the Tuscarora Indians agreed today to postpone arguments in federal district court here pending a decision in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington.

Both court proceedings deal with construction of a $700,000,000 hydroelectric power project at Niagara Falls.

In Buffalo, argument was scheduled for next Tuesday on the authority's motion for a summary judgment permitting it to take 1,383 acres of Tuscarora land by condemnation proceedings.

This has been postponed until the Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington rules on a claim by the Indians that the Federal Power Commission license to the state for the project is invalid. The court has heard arguments and reserved decision.

The State Power Authority is already working on the Indian land, within some restrictions, under a federal district court order signed in Rochester that grants the authority immediate, but temporary, possession of most of the land.

The authority wants the Indians land, about a fifth of the reservation, for use as a reservoir for the project.

Teamster Strike Looms as Protest To Monitor Power

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — one of three monitors appointed to oversee activities of the Teamsters Union says the 1,600,000-member union plans a strike to protest the monitors' power.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, a court-appointed monitor, said Teamsters President James Hoffa will never admit to such plans.

"It will be done with a wink and a nod," Schmidt said in a speech Wednesday night at a forum of the Villanova University School of Law.

Schmidt quoted Joseph Treretola, secretary-treasurer of the union's eastern conference, as saying at a recent Teamsters dinner in New York, "If the persecution of the Teamsters doesn't stop, we'll give the country a three-day national holiday."

Schmidt said Hoffa told the same dinner the Teamsters would take their grievances to court. But, continued Schmidt, "I know that Treretola wouldn't have said that without being inspired."

Schmidt said Hoffa recently made a special trip to Detroit to perfect plans for the stoppage.

The fellow who says you can't take it with you must never have tried to travel very far without it.

Talking Problems With People Is Credited for Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he didn't "want to be corny" but that he o ed his election as governor simply to "support of the people."

The Republican governor-elect made the comment during an impromptu press conference in the lobby of his Fifth Avenue apartment residence as he answered questions from reporters.

"I was honest and straightforward with the people," he said. "I talked with them about the problems that affected them and their children. I analyzed their problems and I suggested what I would do to deal with them.

How He Figured

"I figured that if they liked what I suggested, I would be elected, and if they didn't like what I suggested, I wouldn't."

Rockefeller repeated his insistence that he had no interest in his party's presidential nomination two years hence.

"It honestly doesn't enter my mind except when you fellows ask me about it," he said. "I have a tremendous job ahead of me, particularly the economic growth rate of New York State."

Asked if his administration would bring about any "radical changes," Rockefeller said any such changes would come in attempting to improve the state's economic growth.

Rockefeller said the major concern of his administration would be "the growth and progress for New York in economic and social affairs."

He had charged throughout his campaign that industry and jobs were drifting from the state and that a more favorable economic climate was needed.

"I am seriously worried about the economic growth of this state," he said. "That wasn't just a campaign subject."

Rockefeller also charged during the campaign that the Democratic state administration was bossed by Carmine G. DeSapio, leader of Tammany Hall, Manhattan Democratic organization.

But he expressed doubt in the news conference that Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman's defeat could be attributed to that.

Says Fact Existed

"It gave a headline and it publicly dramatized a fact that existed," Rockefeller commented.

He said he hadn't given any thought during the campaign to selecting members of his administration because "I didn't know whether I would be elected."

Rockefeller said that, before leaving the end of this week with his wife for a vacation near Maracaibo, Venezuela, he would form a "nucleus of people" who will help him prepare for taking office.

He said that, besides Republican Party figures, the group would include William J. Ronan, dean of the New York University Graduate School of Public Administration and Social Service; Rodney Perkins, an attorney; John Lockwood, Rockefeller family attorney, and Francis Jamieson, chief press relations representative of Rockefeller.

Rockefeller apologized for not having invited newsmen and photographers up to his triplex apartment.

This morning I just wanted to be with those kids who worked so hard in the campaign," he said, referring to his three sons and a daughter.

tour. They will investigate recent bombings and other violence directed against places of religious worship and schools.

Comment on the Rockefeller election, much of it directed to the possibility he is now a potential candidate for president, ranged from Virginia to Brazil to Austria.

Almond Hints Support

Democratic Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia said Rockefeller could command "tremendous support in the south as a presidential candidate if the New York governor-elect adopted an "even more conservative attitude."

Political writers were nearly unanimous in picturing Rockefeller as a leading contender for a presidential nomination. Much of the discussion centered on the theory that Rockefeller had arisen as a strong challenger to Vice President Nixon, who had been considered assured of the GOP nomination for president in 1960.

Nixon Likely

years ago, that the Senate's filibuster rule can be changed by a majority vote at the start of the session. Beyond that he may take an active part in attempts to compromise the fight expected to ensue, with the idea of getting a rule more effective in ending debate.

In the new Senate, the power of Southern civil rights law opponents appears likely to be reduced. Some standing allies in the West will be replaced by Democrats more inclined to favor such legislation.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

Regular meeting of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the lodge rooms, 82 Prince Street.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—The parents of Dr. Charles L. Angel couldn't make it here to his wedding from their home in Sidney, Australia, but they'll get a first-hand account just the same. The best man recorded the entire ceremony with the aid of a tiny microphone under his tie and a small wire recorder attached to his belt.

permitted coasting on Tompkins Street, and that no sand had been spread to prevent sleds from entering East Strand.

Contends Workers Knew

The claim for $10,000 was filed by Fred Koeppen, of 118 Hooker Street for injuries suffered by Robert Koeppen, 8, last Aug. 5, when a bicycle he was riding struck a box in the road at Lincoln and Hooker Streets. He suffered injuries of the "head, limbs and body." It is claimed that city employes knew of the condition. Thomas F. Saccoman is the attorney.

Robert Steele, of 67 Wurts Street, filed a claim of $227.65 for damage done to the under side of his car when a manhole cover on Ravine Street flew up and hit it.

Peter Murphy, of 86 Abeel Street, issued notice that he will submit bills resulting from injuries suffered by his wife when she fell near 95 Abeel Street, Oct. 14. It is charged that the fall resulted of a sidewalk condition.

On request of Alderman William G. Davis, 13th Ward, Council President Harold L. Kaye named a committee to investigate procedure in the installation of water meters. Kaye named Davis, Hirschell Mayes and Joseph Tomaszewski.

Complain About Meters

Davis read a letter from William Pagan, of 60 Gilead Street, who complained of methods used in meter installations. He noted instances of a $30 charge for installations, and apparently had been told that an outside installation cost $45. He held that the charge for water use was too high, and proposed that those who had paid for meter installations should be reimbursed, since no charge is being made under the new procedure.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, said today that under the new program, which requires the metering of all water service in the city, no charge is being made for meters "up to one inch in size." The latter, he indicated, is the size generally installed for heavier commercial users of water. Meters are generally scaled under pipe-line sizes.

Advises on Cost

Cost of installing an outside "pit meter" Cloonan said was $35, and not $45, as mentioned in the letter. They are installed when requested, and require certain plumbing changes.

The meter program, Cloonan said, is an actual part of the department's operational expense, and while he had not read the letter, he said from what he had heard, the points made appear to be based on misinformation.

A zoning change as applied for by Ralph and Marian Harper for a property at 224 Fair Street, was approved. No opposition appeared at a recent public hearing. The property is to be used for professional offices.

Can Go to Cincinnati

Application of Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, to attend, or have other laboratory personnel attend a Cincinnati meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks Nov. 20, 21 and 22, was granted.

A letter to Council President Kaye from Hazel M. Steed, RN, coordinator in the recent free chest X-ray survey program, asking him to extend thanks to the aldermen for their part in the program, was read and filed. It extended the thanks of Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner; Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, medical director of the County Tuberculosis Hospital, and the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Other Letter

Another letter from her thanked City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew for his assistance in the program.

Other letters were from Joyce-Schirick Post, VFW, extending thanks for assistance in promoting the Pageant of Drums, and from the Catholic Youth Organization of the county, for assistance at the municipal auditorium in observance of National CYO Week. The latter was directed to Alderman Frank C. Sass, chairman of the council's buildings, repairs and supplies committee. It was signed by Leo Schupp, county CYO director. The other was signed by Martin J. Saban, VFW post-adjutant.

Resolutions Introduced

A resolution by Fourth Ward Alderman Lawrence Woerner asking for a street light on Delaware Avenue between Livingston Street and Broadway, was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Resolutions by Third Ward Alderman Donald M. Hastings asked for no-parking in an area on Flatbush Avenue from the Northwest corner of Farrelly Street 600 feet northeasterly, and on the southeast side of Farrelly Street from Flatbush Avenue 100 feet, and a full-stop sign on Smith Avenue at the corner leading into Prince Street. They were referred to the traffic control committee.

Harvest Festival

til 1823. The Town and Village Boards will be asked to recreate "the Duzine" for the day.

To Exhibit Art

Members of the New Paltz Art Association plan to exhibit through paintings and drawings the beauty of the historic Ulster County area. Some of the scenes included in the display will be the mountains of the Catskills, the old stone houses, and Perrine's Bridge.

An old time farm display is being organized on a farm off Route 32.

Activities and programs are also being arranged by members of the historic New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church and the Huguenot Historical Society.

Southern Dems Likely to Stay Committee Heads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats will retain the bulk of Senate and House committee chairmanships in the new 86th Congress but Southern conservatives probably will find their influence diluted.

With the Democrats sharply increasing their control of both branches in Tuesday's voting, the top committee posts in nearly all cases will remain firmly in the hands of the men who held them in the 85th. In many instances, these men have been chairmen for years.

Based on Seniority

In the Senate, this means that 9 of the 16 standing committee chairmanships will remain with Southerners. In the House, the South will keep 12 of the 19 posts. The chairmanships go strictly by seniority.

The only change in chairmanships forced by the election in either branch involves the House Interior Committee. Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif), who headed it in the 85th Congress, was elected to th Senate. Expected to replace him is Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo).

May Cut Down Power

The election of many more Democrats from the North and West seems certain to cut down the power of the South in the committees, which can make or break legislation.

Particularly will this be true in the Senate, where the Democrats have had only one-vote margins on committees for four years. In such a situation a conservative Southern Democrat often is a swing man; by voting with the Republicans he could help to bottle up or win changes in legislation.

But with the Democrats holding a 62-34 edge in the 1959 Senate, not counting the two seats from Alaska to be filled Nov. 25, their committee margins will increase materially.

In most cases, these will be 10-5 or 9-6 on the 15-member committees. With such a lineup, the vote of one dissenter from party policy will not be too important.

Births

A total of 155 births in the city were recorded by the city registrar during October. The figure is three more than that of the corresponding month last year and 12 less than the total for September, 1958 when 167 births were recorded.

The following births were recently recorded by the city registrar:

Oct. 24—Jo Ann Virginia Marnell to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frank Marnell, 147 Pine Street.

Oct. 26 — Donald Wayne to Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas McCord, Wallkill.

Oct. 27—Wayne Anthony to Mr. and Mrs. Walter William Fischer, Route 2, Box 154, Woodstock; Mary Lou to Mr. and Mrs. James Edwin Andress, Rosendale.

Oct. 28—Irene to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Frank Schuknecht, Rosendale; Robert Harry Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harry Smith Sr., 37 Hurley Avenue; Stephen William to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stephen Rinaldo, 27 Lawrence Street.

tive of "perhaps closing the library."

Hopes for Support

"After you have investigated," it said, we trust you will find our needs worthy of support, and will wisely lend your assistance, not only to maintain the library, but to improve its facilities."

The letter said it was not believed that "thoughtful citizens would welcome the loss of this institution." It noted that other communities go to "extreme lengths" to keep libraries effectively operating.

Many, it said, take the institution for granted, and few realize "they have a direct responsibility" toward its successful operation." It then noted that "You and other city legislators will soon have the opportunity, and unfortunately the responsibility, of determining whether the library is permitted to continue." It hoped that effective action would be taken.

U. S. Delegation Is Ready for Discussion

GENEVA (AP) —America's delegation to the conference on safeguards against surprise attacks arrived today and stressed its eagerness to engage in serious technical discussions with the Communist world on a wide range of complex military problems.

Other Western delegations also began arriving for the 10-nation East-West conference opening Monday.

Recount Possible Of Vermont Vote

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — A recount of votes cast in Vermont's tightest gubernatorial race in a century loomed today. Democratic headquarters in Burlington said the 1959 session of the Legislature will be asked for a recount of the ballots.

Republican Lt. Gov. Robert T. Stafford edged Democrat Bernard J. Leddy by a margin of 1,098 votes in the unofficial tally. Stafford polled 62,153 votes to 61,055 for Leddy.

But Newport polling officials Wednesday prepared a certificate of vote that cut Stafford's margin by 102, to 996 votes. The Democrats claim other discrepancies exist in the vote.

Secretary of State Howard E. Armstrong today sent messages to all Vermont town clerks warning them "there may be a petition presented to the General Assembly of 1959 for a recount of votes cast for governor at the general election."

No other contest—including that in which William H. Meyer was elected the first Democratic congressman in 104 years—would be affected by the recount.

Tabulation Error

Elected at Night, Woman Is Just Citizen Next Day

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP) — Somebody pushed the wrong button on a tabulating machine and for a few hours Rudd Brown, the granddaughter of William Jennings Bryan, thought she was a congresswoman.

But in the gray dawn today she was awakened by a reporter and informed that because of a 10,000-vote counting error she is still just Mrs. Brown, private citizen, and her Republican rival, veteran incumbent Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand was re-elected in the 21st District.

10,000 Vote Error

"I'm disappointed, naturally," said Mrs. Bworn with a yawn, "but I knew it was possible, even last night. I know there always can be an error."

County Registrar of Voters Benjamin Hite said Hiestand should have been credited earlier with 33,000 votes at a time when he was given only 23,000.

"Somebody," said Hite sadly, "pushed a wrong digit."

Mrs. Brown was asked if she will try for public office again. "Well," she said with a sigh, "I'll have to think about that for a couple of days."

Mother Held Office

Mrs. Brown, an attractive 38-year-old brunette, is the wife of Harrison Brown, a well-known scientist at nearby California Institute of Technology. Her mother was the late Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, who was congresswoman from Florida in 1928 and this nation's first woman envoy, appointed by President Roosevelt in 1933 as minister to Denmark.

Mrs. Brown said that during the campaign, her first for public office, she had to overcome a fear of speechmaking.

Personal Appeal Helped in Lieu Of Rights Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's thumping gubernatorial victory was aided by a significant increase in support for the Republican candidate by voters of Negro, Jewish and Puerto Rican descent in New York City.

This was attributed in large measure to Rockefeller's personal appeal, since there was no issue of civil rights or related matters in the election campaign.

Rockefeller and his Democratic opponent, Gov. Averell Harriman, hold similar views on such questions—each being a strong backer of civil rights.

Rockefeller's percentage of support from Negro, Jewish and Puerto Rican voters was a good deal larger than that received four years ago by Republican Sen. Irving Ives. Ives was narrowly defeated by Harriman for the governorship.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged toward another record peak in heavy trading early this afternoon.

Gains of key stocks were mostly from fractions to about two points. Selected issues made wider moves.

The market was higher from the start in a continuation of Wednesday's big rise attributed to prospects of increased government spending as a result of the Democratic election sweep.

First-hour volume was a huge 1,080,000 shares. Turnover then declined.

Good quality motors, steels, chemicals and oils were leaders in the early wave of buying. After trading moderated some of the better gains were clipped in profit taking. Chemicals were outstanding going into afternoon trading.

Rails continued strongly ahead. They were bolstered by news that income of class I carriers in September topped year ago figures for the first time since July 1957.

Some large opening blocks were traded. Considerable buying was linked with various brokerage house recommendations.

Du Pont and Allied Chemical were ahead about three points each. Eastman Kodak was up about two and Air Reduction more than that.

Youngstown Sheet rose about two points while Jones & Laughlin halved an early gain of about the same amount.

American Motors tripped on profit taking, losing about a point. Studebaker-Packard traded about unchanged after rising ½ on a big opening block of 38,000 shares.

General Motors gained more than a point.

United Whelan, Pfizer and Texas Co. were up around a point or better.

U.S. government bonds eased.

O'Brien to Push For Hawaii as 50th U.S. State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Rep. Leo O'Brien, sponsor of legislation that made Alaska the 49th state, embarked today on a campaign to admit Hawaii to the Union.

He said in a radio interview (WPTR) that he would work, in the 86th Congress, on behalf of Hawaii's admission.

The Albany Democrat said he planned to go to Hawaii next week to talk with territorial leaders.

His campaign, O'Brien said, fulfills a promise he made two years ago—that if Hawaii would step aside temporarily until Alaska became part of the Union, he would take up Hawaii's case.

O'Brien said he felt that Hawaii stood only a 50-50 chance for admission next year. He said he expected the odds to drop to 80-20 within the next four years.

Jersey Politicos Jubilant, Puzzled Over Vote Results

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Jubilant Democrats and puzzled Republicans in New Jersey looked to the future today as the smoke from Tuesday's election settled.

Final unofficial returns from all the state's 4,193 election districts showed Democrat Harrison A. Williams Jr. won a seat in the U. S. Senate by a plurality of 88,-316 votes over Republican Robert W. Kean.

The 38-year-old victor will return to Washington in January to become the first New Jersey Democrat installed in the upper house of Congress since 1937.

And his party already was laying plans to smash another Republican tradition by capturing the state Senate next year. If the Democrats gain control of the Senate and retain the Assembly, it will be the first time in history they have held both houses of the Legislature and the governor's office simultaneously.

Meanwhile, Republican Sen. H. Alexander Smith, who is retiring at 78, termed the election results "a puzzlement."

"It's a phenomenon that Kean lost the Senate while we held on to all our congressional seats," Smith said yesterday at his Princeton home.

The state's House delegation will have the same 9-to-5 lineup of Republicans over Democrats.

Assault Charge Dropped, Other Court Cases Heard

An assault, third degree, charge against Eugene Mulligan of Town of Rosendale was dismissed in County Court after the selection of a jury had been commenced when the complainant, George W. Reed, withdrew the complaint and stipulated a nominal payment for the alleged assault.

Reed alleged he had been assaulted by Mulligan in a taxi misunderstanding, swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace Raymond LeFever on August 9, 1957, and the grand jury returned an indictment. Joseph Hill appeared for Mulligan.

After the selection of a jury had been commenced, a stipulation was entered into and a release signed by Reed. After payment of the nominal sum of $1 by Mulligan, "in full satisfaction" for the alleged assault on Reed, the complaining witness entered into a stipulation that he no longer desired to prosecute the case. Hill requested that in view of the publicity which had been given the case, that the record show that the sum paid by Mulligan was a "nominal" one and he requested the dismissal of the indictment which was granted by Judge Bruhn.

In the case of James Parker Allison, driving while intoxicated, a plea of guilt to reckless driving was accepted and Allison was fined $100 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence. Allison, from Newburgh, was represented by William Stanton.

Jose Castro, charged with forgery, second degree, alleged to have been committed on July 26 and 27, 1955, on six counts was in court for assignment of counsel. Judge Bruhn assigned Harry Gold, ganted 20 days to make further motions and a plea of innocent was entered.

Carson Wayne Lyons, charged with burglary, third degree and unlawful entry, was represented by Bernard Feeney and it was moved that the case be disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute. Judge Bruhn reserved decision.

Selection of a jury to try a rape, first degree, charge against Robert William Shader was commenced this morning. Hubert Richter and Seymour Werbalowsky appear for defendant. The grand jury charges defendant with having committed the act on a 13-year-old girl last April 8.

AMA Head Calls For Scrapping of Retirement Age

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The president of the American Medical Assn. today called for the scrapping of compulsory retirement.

Dr. Gunnar Gunderson made his plea in a speech at the opening session of the three-day annual meeting of the National Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the study of old age.

"We have seen," he said, "a growing tendency to create employment policies calling for arbitrary retirement at 65 or 70."

One reason for this, Gunderson said, is that "our young people are accepting the idea that retirement from productive work at 65 or earlier is a desirable goal.

"Their ideas about retirement are pretty vague—centered around fishing or similar pursuits, which now provide them with diversions from their work-a-day lives."

But, he added, when man actually reaches retirement the life of ease has lost its attraction.

Instead, he discovers that productive work is the heart of life, the doctor said. He wants the ground under his feet in the form of a job.

Repeated studies show that the healthy older worker is usually as good as his younger colleague, he said.

126 Ex-Communist Members Teach in New York Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 126 admitted former members of the Communist Party are now teaching in New York City public schools.

An official of the Board of Education, which disclosed the figure, said all 126 proved to the satisfaction of the board that they had left the party in good faith and no longer subscribed to its views.

The board has been investigating communism in its staff of about 35,000 since 1951.

The number of ex-Communists now teaching was revealed in connection with an announcement Wednesday that the annual report on subversive activities in the schools had been submitted to State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. Such annual reports by school systems are required by a state law which bans the employment of Communists and other subversives in public schools and colleges.

The report, which is for the year ended Oct. 31, said: "No board of education employe was charged with membership in the Communist Party or with subversive activities."

The report said that during the year 13 teachers were directed to appear for questioning about possible past or present membership in the Communist Party. Seven admitted past membership but said they left the party in good faith. Two denied ever having been party members. Two resigned or retired after being notified to appear. And two interviews are still pending.

Union, Bus Firm Order Workers to Return to Posts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eastern Greyhound lines and union officials today ordered striking workers who had disrupted service at points throughout a 20-state area to go back to work.

There was no official word on a settlement of contract negotiations which had dragged on early this morning.

A spokesman for Eastern Greyhound said the company negotiators had gone home at 5:30 a. m. but that union representatives had remained to talk with a federal negotiator.

The order to return to work was in a teletype message sent out to Greyhound agents and signed by a union and company official.

In Buffalo, N. Y., a Greyhound official said operations returned to normal at the terminal about 6 a. m. He said that all 110 drivers were notified by telephone and that all trips started on schedule.

The talks adjourned at 5:30 a. m., 2½ hours later than Tuesday night's session. The time when the talks were to resume today was not disclosed.

Issues in the contract dispute have not been spelled out by either the bus line or the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes. Wages, seniority and fringe benefits reportedly are involved.

The first walkout in a series that spread throughout the Midwest and northeast part of the country began in Pittsburgh before dawn Wednesday.

Pickets soon appeared in other cities.

Cease-Fire Prevails In Italian Warfare

LIGNANO, Italy (AP) —A cease-fire prevailed today in an Italian offshore island war as officials in Rome deliberated whether to give Lignano its independence from Latisana.

Lignano is the offshore island, a resort on the north Adriatic Coast with 2,000 residents. The island is administered by the government of Latisana, the mainland town 10 miles away.

For years Lignano has sought independence so the Lignanese wouldn't have to travel 20 miles round trip every time they needed a birth certificate, or other official documents.

Wednesday they declared their island a free territory.

Churchill Is Given Highest French Award

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle kissed Sir Winston Churchill on both cheeks today and awarded him the Cross of Liberation, the highest decoration of the World War II Free French forces.

The medal is in the shape of De Gaulle's personal symbol, the Cross of Lorraine. Referring to the French leader's prickly personality and demands on behalf of France, Churchill once said the Cross of Lorraine was the heaviest cross he had to bear during the war.

Their relations mellowed by the passing of time, the 83-year-old Briton and the 68-year-old De Gaulle greeted each other warmly today.

It was their first meeting in 14 years, since the 1944 Armistice Day celebration in Paris.

County AHRC Group Elects President

Mrs. Nicholas Sciortina of Highland and Mrs. Henry Fordham of Kingston were elected president and secretary, respectively, of the Ulster County Chapter, Association for the Help of Retarded Children at the group's program meeting last week.

The evening was highlighted by a talk from Dr. Jack Patten, associate professor of education at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz. He told the nearly 40 parents, special teachers and interested laymen that one of the best courses of action that retarded children's parents can take is to meet with other such parents and mutually work out their problems.

Dr. Patten also posed the question of whether it wouldn't be wise to give these special children the knowledge that they are special as early as possible and help them accept this fact. He explained too that some retarded children are emotionally disturbed and therefore prove hard to test for possible schooling.

The educator and child psychologist advanced the theory that some retarded children may have developed emotional scars because their parents did not find out soon enough that the child would need much more of their patience than the average youngster.

A lively discussion period followed with Mrs. Robert Rolfe of Hurley as moderator. Mrs. Rolfe, who was program chairman, was elected vice president earlier in the year along with Mrs. Donald Weaver of New Paltz, treasurer.

The group also heard from Mrs. Robert Gaines, education committee chairman, who urged members to take advantage of the AHRC library which is open from 1 to 3 p. m. Monday through Friday at the AHRC offices, 286 Clinton Avenue, Kingston. Mrs. Gaines is also the teacher of the trainable class, now in its second year, which meets at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church on Pine Grove Avenue.

Mrs. Rolfe announced that Mrs. Arthur Eymann and Mrs. Donovan Buehring, both of Kingston, were attending the state AHRC convention in Buffalo. The national convention will take place in Philadelphia Nov. 7-11.

Dr. George Etling, senior director at the Wassaic State School, will be the principal speaker at the chapter's next meeting scheduled for Dec. 3 in the George Washington School library. His subject will concern institutional care for the retarded. All interested people are invited to attend.

Of Many Things

by DOROTHY A. NAREL

Corduroy is Back

Corduroy, that sturdy, ribbed fabric once used almost exclusively for boys' knickers, is coming into its own again as a high fashion fabric. With a new lease on life, this cotton material now appears in a variety of children's clothing and in men's and women's wear ranging from sports clothes, bathrobes and raincoats to finely-tailored suits.

Textile technicians at American Institute of Laundering, national research and educational center for the professional laundry industry, say that corduroy's popularity is many-faceted. It is adaptable, appears in varied weights for year-round use, is practical and durable. Manufacturers now produce a fine pinwale corduroy that appears in a bevy of colors and prints. The prints run from stripes, checks and flowers to intricate designs. Colors range from deep hues to pastels.

Though the majority of corduroy may be colorfast to both sunlight and fading, laboratory technicians advise shoppers to check the label to make sure that the fabric is fast to washing. It's also a good idea to apply a simple "crocking" test when purchasing dark-colored corduroy. To test crocking, take a white handerchief and rub the surface of the fabric briskly. If color comes off, the shopper can expect to have it rub off on other clothing also. And, if the color rubs off when dry, the problem will be worse when the material is wet.

The smart shopper will also check the label to assure that the fabric has been preshrunk, to avoid fitting and laundering problems.

The attractiveness of the fine pinwale can be maintained with the care given it in a professional laundry. After careful laundering, corduroy should be tumbled dry then steam pressed to keep the pile soft and upright.

The textile technicians add this word of advice to homemakers who'll be sewing their own corduroy garments: Make sure the pile of the fabric all runs in the same direction. Otherwise, the garment will appear to be made of different shades of material due to the reflection of light. To make sure the pile runs in the same direction, brush your hand over the fabric lightly to feel the difference. And, if corduroy material has not been preshrunk, have it laundered before making it into a garment.

"Nibble Foods"

To keep the family from ravishing while you put the last touches to your meal, provide a few nibblers. Don't make too many, or make them too rich. Crisp radishes, thin slices of turnip and tiny tomatoes keep fresh in the refrigerator and can be served without much fuss. Crackers, nuts and popcorn, warmed a few minutes in the gas oven will keep everyone relaxed until the cook is ready.

Sausage-Fruit Stuffing

For a 20 pound turkey, brown 1½ pounds bulk pork sausage over a medium flame. Drain off the fat and measure one cup of drippings. Remove sausage from the skillet, add the drippings and one cup each of chopped onion and celery and saute for five minutes. Add five quarts of stale bread crumbs, 1¼ teaspoons salt, two teaspoons marjoram and 1½ cups chicken or turkey stock. Add 2½ cups of uncooked mixed dried fruits such as prunes, raisins, apricots or apples cut into pieces and the browned sausage meat. Stuff the bird and close the opening with skewers. Roast at 325 degrees for six to seven hours.

Dutchess County Philharmonic Opens Season With Brilliant Performance in Poughkeepsie

Members of the Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra ushered in their 25th anniversary season with a brilliant concert Wednesday night in Poughkeepsie.

The 70-piece orchestra played to a capacity audience at the Poughkeepsie High School and won laudatory comment on their performance.

Sharing the spotlight were Sigurd and Karin Rascher, saxophonists, who demonstrated the solo quality of their instruments.

Rascher, often referred to as the "Paganini of the Saxophone," has been demonstrating the possibilities of the saxophone to composers and audiences all over the world since 1930. Most of the great solos for saxophones have been dedicated to him, including works by Ibert, Glazounov, Larsson, Brandt, and others. He has appeared with all the major orchestras in the world, most recently with the Cleveland Orchestra. His daughter, Karin, is 13, and has almost learned to play the four octaves on the saxophone which her father has been able to do for many years—the only man in the world who can do this. Karin plays the soprano saxophone, practices two hours a day, and is a Girl Scout. She will assist her father in a recital in New York's Town Hall on Sunday, Nov. 9.

Windingstad Conducts

Under the baton of Ole Windingstad, the orchestra opened its program with George Morgan's "Concert Overture." The second number, "Trio-Sonata in C Minor" by Quantz, was arranged for soprano and alto saxophone with string orchestra by Mr. Rascher.

The orchestra gave a flawless performance of Paul Dukas' "The Sorcerer's Apprentice."

"Concertino da Camera" by Jacque Ibert, arranged for saxophone and orchestra was played in two movements—allegro con moto and larghetto, animato molto. It received a very warm response from the audience.

The orchestra concluded its first seasonal program with Beethoven's "Symphony No. 3, Eroica, Op. 55.

Next Concert Set

The next Philharmonic concert set for January 28 will feature Artur Balsam, pianist. A native of Poland, he has concertized in Europe, South America, and the United States as a soloist and with well known string trios and quartets. He is currently recording all the Haydn piano sonatas, and has already recorded over a hundred works.

WHEN ON A DIET

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to a friend's house for lunch or dinner, would it be proper to tell the hostess beforehand what foods I can and cannot eat, rather than run the risk of having her prepare something that I will not be able to eat? I would greatly appreciate your answering this question for me.

Answer: If you are lunching alone with a friend you might tell her the certain foods you cannot eat. But if you are going to a lunch party you certainly can't interfere with what she is intending to serve to other people, and surely there will be some part of the lunch you can eat.

Uncle as Usher

Dear Mrs. Post: My nephew is going to be married soon and I have been asked to be one of the ushers. Although I would be pleased to accept I hesitate to do so without first seeking your advice. I am well past my forties and I think I am too old to fill this position. I have always thought that ushers were very young men, or doesn't it matter as far as age is concerned? I certainly don't want to appear foolish or out of place if it is customary for only young men to participate as ushers. Please advise me.

Answer: It is unusual for a bridegroom to choose an uncle but as your nephew is evidently very close to you and has asked you to be one of his ushers, you may certainly accept. There is no reason for you to appear foolish.

The Bride at Her Rehearsal

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and have been told that I should get someone to "stand in" for me at the wedding rehearsal as it would be very bad luck for me to take part myself. I have never heard of this before and would like to know if it is true that the bride does not take part in the rehearsal.

Answer: What you have been told is correct. You direct your wedding rehearsal but it has always been supposed to be bad luck for the bride to take part in it herself.

The Mature Parent

Grammar School Teaches More Than Just Three R's

Claire is afraid of her 4th grade teacher.

Miss Sims, a school newcomer can't wait to learn what she can expect of her students. So to make sure they know who's boss, she's been jumping on them all indiscriminately.

To Claire, who generally has received B's for Effort, she's been saying sarcastic things like "Maybe you'd like to conduct this class yourself . . . If you'd just listen to the question once in a while . . ."

One afternoon after lending her eraser, Claire reached over to a neighbor's desk to retrieve it. Miss Sims suspected that she'd been checking an arithmetic answer. She made Claire bring the paper up to her desk where she tore it in pieces and said, "I will have no cheats in this class."

Reporting this humiliation to her mother, Claire said, "I don't want to go to school any more," and burst into tears.

Her mother let her cry. Instead of trying to soothe away Claire's fear of Miss Sims, she let her protest all her gloomy forebodings of continuing helplessness. Then she said, "Claire, you've been scared of Miss Sims ever since school opened. And you've been doing something about it every day. In spite of being afraid, you've kept right on going to school. You haven't let your fear lose you one day of school."

Claire was so comforted by this reminder of her power to tolerate fear of Miss Sims that she went to school without protest the next morning.

If we always try to soothe a child out of his fear, he may never discover his own power to live through it—and overcome it.

For parents the great temptation is to suggest that we are the source of relief for him.

We are not. Though another person can soothe our fears, he cannot remove them for us. When we mothers enter the hospital delivery room to have a baby, we discover this. Then in wonder we discover that we have survived our fear. We discover that we are the source of our own relief.

That is what Claire's mother helped her to perceive.

Rochester Men Are Held for Bogus Checks

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Two Rochester men, described by police as members of a ring of check forgers, are in Monroe County jail today.

Vincent Massara, 30, and Anthony De Frank, 33, were arrested here Wednesday by the FBI. The FBI said the two were part of a ring that passed over $50,000 worth of fraudulent checks in 1956 and 1957. The bureau said both men had previously been convicted of burglary.

Special Agent John E. Edwards of the Buffalo FBI office said the pair was involved with three other Rochester men who were arrested earlier this year.

Massara and De Frank, charged with conspiring to pass fraudulent checks, were ordered held in lieu of bail pending their arraignment Nov. 24 before U. S. Commissioner Robert Miller.

Joseph Giambra, 36, and Anthony Poletta, 26, are now serving sentences in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. They were convicted of attempting to pass a forged check.

Another man, Richard Shur, 27, is free in $15,000 bail awaiting trial on similar charges.

Edwards said the checks were drawn on banks outside the state against accounts of various insurance and construction companies. But, he said, it was learned that the companies never maintained accounts at those particular banks.

Heads Up

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Stamford hospital reports it had a "heads up" weekend recently. Of the cases of youngsters admitted: One hit his own head with a hammer. Another hit his head on a metal frame. A third had a toy fire engine fall on his head. A forehead was cut on a venetian blind and an insect stung still another head. Also among the 26 cases reported were several hit on the heads by sticks and falls.

The American game of baseball was invented by Abner Doubleday in 1839 at Cooperstown where the Baseball Hall of Fame is now located.

West Pursues Double Life

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West knew that South was floundering around in the bidding and failed to realize that South just might have landed in the right spot.

His career as a doubler had started and he wasn't going to give it up for any such consideration as that he really did not have a double of two hearts.

He did give the hand good defense, but South gave it even better play an wound up making game and rubber.

East won the opening trump lead and returned the suit. South won in dummy and discarded two diamonds on the ace and queen of spades. West was in with the king. He cashed the ace and king of diamonds and led a third trump. South won in dummy and discarded one club on the jack of spades.

Now South ruffed dummy's last diamond and led a small club toward dummy's ten. West went up with the jack, but now had to lead a club right back to declarer's ace-queen.

East and West had made one spade, one heart, two diamonds and one club, but South had made the other eight tricks and his contract.

It is worthy of note that there are lots of lines of defense, but not one will beat the hand if declarer plays it right.

Inmate Who Gave Self Up Receives Light Punishment

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — The San Quentin prisoner who escaped in a stolen plane two years ago and surrendered Oct. 29 has received comparatively light punishment from the prison disciplinary committee.

Gerald E. Baucum, 29, still faces prosecution for his escape and the State Adult Authority has yet to set the sentence he was serving when he escaped from an honor camp. He was serving five years to life for a San Francisco robbery when he fled.

The prison committee ordered that Baucum serve seven days in isolation, forfeit his $15 a month honor camp earnings and be permitted to leave his cell only in the daytime for an indeterminate period.

Baucum lived in Butte, Mont., under the name of John Frank Kelly after his escape and got married. With a child on the way, he returned to prison to "get the past cleaned up."

New Group Joins Fight on Title To Aniline Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new group has joined a lengthy battle over ownership of the giant General Aniline & Film Corp.

Liquidators for the I. G. Farben chemical trust Wednesday petitioned U.S. District Court here to block the government from distributing any proceeds of sale of Aniline stock.

The U. S. government seized the 100-million-dollar corporation as alien property in World War II. The government held that the corporation was owned by the Farben trust.

After the war, a claim to the property was entered by Interhandel, a Swiss holding corporation. Interhandel has lost a long series of court battles in which it sought to establish that it had a right to the property.

Now the German group claims the government plans to sell the company and turn the proceeds over to Interhandel.

The liquidators were appointed by the Allied High Commission at the end of World War II. They disposed of the Farben properties, a vital element in the war-making potential of Nazi Germany.

The liquidators said they wanted any proceeds of sale of Aniline kept intact to be available for satisfaction of a claim the group said it expected "to be able to assert."

John J. Wilson, U. S. Counsel for Interhandel, said the Farben petition was "without any merit whatsoever" and came "on the very eve of a possible settlement."

The Germans said they wanted a judicial determination on whether Germans or Swiss owned the company.

Female Dealers Out

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Female casino dealers have wound up in the discard.

The City Commission, responding to the entreaties of male dealers, made it illegal Wednesday to hire women for the job.

The men claimed employment of women would cut the pay scale.

For several years, female dealers have worked in small downtown clubs. The men got excited recently when two big clubs started hiring women to run their tables.

Knight Staying In Politics, Raps Knowland Anew

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Scars of the Republican party rift still were being laid bare as Gov.-elect Edmund G. Brown headed for a Palm Springs vacation today after a Democratic sweep.

Republican Goodwin J. Knight, whom Brown will replace Jan. 5 as the first Democrat governor since 1942, offered his hand for a smooth transition. Then he fired another shot at Sen. William F. Knowland, the man Brown walloped.

Is Still Fuming

Knight, still fuming because Knowland switched to the governor's race, said he was staying in politics despite his own thumping defeat by Democratic Rep. Clair Engle in the race for Knowland's Senate seat.

"Just because Knowland ruined things for the Republican party in California in 1958," Knight snapped, "is no reason why I should get out of politics."

Knowland said he had no immediate plans other than to resume work as assistant publisher of the Oakland Tribune.

Around him Brown could see a state Democratic victory still growing in proportions. It appeared Brown would have a Democratic lieutenant governor as well as attorney general and possibly a treasurer and controller. An estimated 80,000 absentee ballots could figure in the ultimate outcome.

Nixon Area Turns Tide

Brown already was assured a Democratic-controlled State Legislature, first such in 69 years.

California's delegation in Congress swung from 17-13 Republican to 17-13 Democratic. A Democratic victory in vice President Nixon's former district helped turn the tide.

Proposition 18, an initiative which would have banned the union shop, went down to defeat.

Also defeated were propositions which would have imposed property taxes on parochial and private schools of less than college standing and have revised taxes. The tax measure would have reduced the state sales tax and increased income taxes in the higher brackets.

To Have Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission will issue a permit to Cornell University for construction of a dual-core atomic reactor for use in student instruction and research.

The AEC said Wednesday the university's program calls for completion of the reactor between June 30 of next year and Jan. 31 of 1960.

This Is a Switch

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — C. E. Cotton, successful write-in candidate for Faulkner County assessor, said he voted for his opponent in Tuesday's general election "because I always vote a straight Democratic ticket."

The Port of Albany was opened to sea-going vessels in 1932 on completion of a federal channel dredged to 27 feet at mean low water.

REPORT TO TRUMAN — Stephen M. Young talks on phone in Cleveland to former President Truman to tell him of his upset victory over Republican Sen. John W. Bricker. Truman, who had campaigned for Young, had called Nov. 4 to cheer Young on and predict victory for the Ohio Democrat. (AP Wirephoto)

Any Change for Better May Be Change for Worse

A woman may waste a lot of effort if she tries to be the kind of wife she thinks her husband wants.

For instance, in England a bricklayer's 240-pound bride, going on the theory that if he loved her fat he'd love her even more if she were streamlined, dieted and exercised until she achieved a shapely figure.

Was her husband pleased? Not at all. He left her, saying he liked her plumb.

I'm recounting this little story to stress the point that it isn't what a woman thinks her husband wants that counts. What really matters is what he wants.

The trouble is, most husbands aren't very articulate about the qualities that made them fall in love with the girls they married.

So a bright, gay, vivacious girl often turns into a drab, spit-and-polish housekeeper and serious-minded clubwoman because she doesn't realize that in trying to be what she considers a good wife she is giving up the qualities that her husband thought he was getting for keeps.

Or a companionable, ready-for-fun girl gets so absorbed in her home and her family that her husband, who thought he would always have an agreeable companion at his side, discovers that his wife never can take a business trip with him because she doesn't want to leave the children, and that she would rather have new furniture for the living room than the vacation trip he has set his heart on.

This kind of misunderstanding on the part of wives about what their husbands expect from them and from marriage causes a great many husbands to feel that the women they are married to are not at all the same persons as the girls they married.

The moral for wives is clear. The fact that your husband married you proves he liked you pretty much as you were. So don't try so hard to be a perfect wife that you are no longer the girl he married.

Not long ago the Associated Press sent out a request over teletype networks to call cities, seeking information as to what was being done in the respective communities about protection against an atomic bomb attack. They wanted to compile a good story on the subject.

In a matter of seconds after the request appeared in newsrooms all over the country, a wit in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, sent the following:

Re atomic prevention request. Not worried here. We have a Chamber of Commerce which has repelled everything new in the past forty years."

The young man and his girl were sitting on the front porch alone. No sounds broke the hush for half an hour till the girl spoke shyly: "Suppose you had money, what would you do?" He threw out his chest in all the strength of manhood. "I'd travel," he said. She slipped her warm, young hand into his for a moment, and then was gone.

In his hand was a dime.

Novelist Denies He Intended Any Anti-Red Views

LONDON (AP) — Boris Pasternak, the Soviet Nobel Prize-winning author, today denied that he had intended to express anti-Communist views in his controversial novel "Doctor Zhivago."

Writing to the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, Pasternak expressed regret at the interpretation placed on his book and pleaded with his country's leaders for a chance to "restore my good name."

The 68-year-old poet-novelist's confession of error was in the pattern familiar in Communist countries, made apparently to avoid the expulsion from the Soviet Union demanded by Young Communist League leaders and others. In a personal appeal to Premier Khrushchev five days ago, the writer said exile "is to me equal to death."

In his letter to Pravda, which was quoted by Moscow radio, Pasternak said he had been accused of giving vent in "Doctor Zhivago" to views that the Communist Revolution was illegal and brought unhappiness to the Soviet Union.

"It is clear to me I cannot endorse such clumsy allegations," Pasternak said. "At the same time my work which has received the Nobel Prize gave cause to this regrettable interpretation and this is the reason I finally gave up the prize."

Loses by Single Vote

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — Because he followed a printer's suggestion, Harry Larson lost by a single vote his bid for election to the Saratoga County Board of Supervisors.

The printer told Larson, an independent candidate, that he could not reproduce on the ballot a party emblem Larson had chosen. He suggested a circle. Larson agreed.

Election inspectors found Tuesday that three absentee and military ballots, intended for Larson, were marked in the circle instead of in the proper place. The ballots were voided.

Larson lost to the Republican incumbent, Kenneth Petteys, 458-457, for the seat from the Town of Wilton.

A number of other groups are expected to qualify for Red Feather citations. These are expected to be announced after a meeting of campaign division chairmen tonight at Community Chest headquarters.

Richard M. Kalish, general campaign chairman, today announced that total pledges in the once-a-year campaign for 10 community services have reached $118,925.60, or 92.4 per cent of the goal of $128,651. Additional pledges are being received daily.

Set Two Hearings To Study State's Water Resources

ALBANY — Two public hearings—at Rochester Nov. 12 and Albany Nov. 13—on a legislative proposal to expedite the long range planning and development of the water resources of the state, were announced today by Senator Wheeler Milmoe of Canastota, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Natural Resources, and Senator Frank E. Van Lare of Rochester, chairman of the Temporary State Commission on Irrigation.

In a joint statement issued by the two chairmen, it was pointed out that "this legislative proposal is the result of several years of study and was introduced in bill form at the last session of the Legislature for study purposes.

"Because this bill is of such far reaching importance to all our people and to all segments of our economy, including our municipalities, our industry, our agriculture and our outdoor recreation—it has been our desire to give the public the fullest possible opportunity to study this proposal during the past year so that we might obtain the best advice and counsel at these public hearings. Seven thousand copies of the bill were sent out in advance of the hearings.

"The bill itself seeks to insure the maximum amount of local participation in the long range planning and development of the state's water resources for all purposes—with the state supplying general supervision and financial aid in terms of engineering and technical services. This proposed bill does not abrogate any existing water rights and it would not change the existing jurisdiction, powers and duties of state and local agencies.

"The public is cordially invited to attend these hearings and to take part in them."

The Rochester hearing Wednesday, November 12, is scheduled for 10 a. m. in the supervisors' room, Monroe County Court House. The Albany hearing on Thursday, Nov. 13, is called for 2 p. m. in the Senate Chamber, in the State Capitol.

Good Bench Help

Experts Back of Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—It took more than just personality—wavy hair, a boyish smile and warm handshake—to put Nelson Rockefeller across. He had organization too.

And his staff was loaded for bear.

The successful Rockefeller campaign for governor probably was the most slickly planned and executed in New York political annals. He seldom if ever missed a trick.

Top Political Brains

While Rockefeller called many of his own signals, he had plenty of help from the bench—a tightly knit group of political brains that met quietly and regularly at campaign headquarters in New York.

This board of directors included such men as:

L. Judson Morhouse, the GOP state chairman, the man who masterminded Rockefeller's successful drive for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Former Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, an astute politician and expert on state government, who heads the Rockefeller Foundation on Government Affairs.

Frank Jamieson, a Pulitzer prize-winning newspaperman turned public relations director for the Rockefeller family.

Harry J. O'Donnell, who was press secretary to ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and now aids Morhouse in the same capacity.

George L. Hinman, Binghamton attorney, counsel to Rockefeller's state committee to revise the New York Constitution.

Buildup Deliberate

As campaign director, Morhouse called many of the turns, abetted by O'Donnell. If they had any mottoes, it might be these: "If you're gonna do it—do it." "Keep it short!"

Rockefeller's buildup was deliberately restrained at first, then nudged along, finally given full head.

The idea was to let Rockefeller carry himself as far as he could go on personality alone, reserving issues and programs for later stages of the campaign. About early October, after confining himself mostly to handshaking, Rockefeller spun off a series of speeches touching almost every base. In the final weeks, he began direct and hard-hitting attacks on old family friend Averell Harriman that carried right up to election eve.

The Rockefeller people gave consuming attention to the most minute details of his buildup and let virtually no suggestion go unweighed.

Follows Suggestions

For example, a reporter once suggested that Rockefeller's campaign portrait made him look a bit stuffy. A week or so later, a flock of new posters appeared featuring a more affable looking Rockefeller.

On another occasion, newsmen raised the possibility of direct press communications aboard the Rockefeller campaign bus via radio-telephone. The next day, a Rockefeller aide had complete information about the device. It was too late, however, to get one installed. But they tried.

Searching for new ways to put the candidate in the public eye, Rockefeller's campaign press secretary, Richard Amper, came up with the idea of "handouts" (that is, press releases) for television.

In the same manner that newspapers are serviced with written accounts of candidates' speeches, TV stations were offered daily film clips—flown from the campaign trail to their studios.

Rockefeller had special advisers on TV technique, among them Sylvester (Pat) Weaver, former president of a national TV network.

No Long-Winded Talks

Almost every trusted adviser had a hand in writing the candidate's speeches. They were reviewed by "egghead" attaches for intellectual content, revised by practical newspapermen to appeal to the man in the street.

Best of all, to the mind of traveling reporters and, surely, to campaign audiences, too, was the drive to "keep it short."

Rockefeller was limited generally to 15 minutes on even major speeches. Usually, his speeches ran a snappy 10 minutes or under.

Said Morhouse: "We aim to dispel the image of the long-winded politician."

Now who wants to argue with that?

Pope John Meets Newsmen, Urges They Give Truth

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII received some 500 representatives of the world press in a jovial special audience today and urged them to write truthfully.

The Pope chuckled as he commented on reporters' efforts to pry into the secrets of the conclave that elected him the 262nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church Oct. 28.

"The efforts of the press have been formidable, but the silence (of the conclave) has been even better," said the 76-year-old pontiff.

The newsmen laughed with him at that.

Seated on the throne in the Vatican's Clementine Hall, Pope John spoke in rapid French, without notes, and with considerably less formality than his predecessor, Pope Pius XII, used in his audiences for the press. Frequently he looked up from the microphone and smiled broadly at his listeners.

"I am still a novice at this job of universal fatherhood," he said, using the familiar first person singular instead of the "we" popes normally use.

"I will confess to you," he continued with a smile, "that reading as I do all the newspapers, I even find it agreeable to read all those stories about myself. . .and those allegedly revealing the secrets of the conclave put me in a truly good mood for the entire day."

The Pope criticized articles which "can be construed as advice to us on how to run things. You must remember that we stick to the traditions and rules of the church."

The Pope said he hoped his listeners would not feel insulted at his urging them to report truthfully.

"This," he said, "was intended as a fatherly—or even better — as brotherly advice aimed at helping you in your work."

The Pope concluded the audience by giving his blessing to the newsmen.

Raisins Go Into Easy-Make Thanksgiving Mince Pie

HARVEST fruits, like these spilling from a cornucopia, form the wonderful base for a "modern old-fashioned" mince pie.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Market Editor

Not only in the Midwest, but in many other parts of the United States, mince as well as pumpkin pie is a Thanksgiving "must."

An old-fashioned treat, today mince pie gets the jet-age treatment. Quick, sure, yet with the "good old days" deliciousness.

Thanksgiving Mince Pie

One recipe pastry, or 2 sticks pie crust mix; one 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat, 1½ cups raisins soaked in ¼ cup orange juice.

Break mincemeat into small pieces in a saucepan; add 3 tablespoons sugar and ¾ cup water. Stir over heat until all lumps are thoroughly broken down. Boil briskly for one minute. Cool. Add raisins soaked in orange juice and mix lightly. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Pour in mincemeat mixture. Cut strips of pastry for lattice top. Wet rim of lower crust with cold water and apply strips, pressing ends down. Arrange a strip of pastry around edge of pie. Bake in hot oven 425 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

Another harvest recipe for Thanksgiving is apple raisin stuffing for the turkey.

Apple-Raisin Dressing
(For one 12-pound turkey)

Two and one-half quarts fine bread crumbs, 1 cup butter or margarine, soft; 2½ cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1 cup raisins, 2 cups diced raw apple, 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 to 1½ cups water.

Rub butter into bread crumbs; toast until golden brown under broiler or in a hot oven (425 degrees F.). Add oats, celery, raisins, apple, seasoning and baking powder, mixing thoroughly. Sprinkle water over surface, stirring lightly until dressing is of desired moistness. Stuff lightly into body cavity and neck region of turkey. Truss and roast turkey according to standard directions.

THANKSGIVING DINNER: Black bean soup with lemon, turkey with apple raisin stuffing, giblet gravy, whole cranberry sauce, turnips and potatoes mashed together, succotash, buttered white onions, corn sticks or bread, butter or margarine, plum jam, celery, olives, radishes, pumpkin and mince pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk, cider, nuts raisins.

Governors Fail In Senate Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)—The governors of four states bid for Senate seats in Tuesday's election. All of them lost.

Making the race were Republican Governors Goodwin J. Knight of California and Harold W. Handley of Indiana and Democratic Governors Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona and George M. Leader of Pennsylvania.

None were able to match the accomplishment of Maine's Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie. In Maines' early voting last September, Muskie won election to the Senate by defeating the Republican incumbent, Sen. Frederick G. Payne.

Defeat also was the fate of the sole governor to try for a House seat. South Dakota's Republican Gov. Joe Foss, World War II Marine air ace, was beaten by Democrat George McGovern in a contest for one of the state's two House seats.

Monty Rejects Challenge Over Italian Troops

LONDON (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery turned down today a challenge to a duel with an infuriated Italian eager to avenge the honor of Italy.

The controversial British military leader published his memoirs this week and was particularly scathing about the fighting qualities of Italian troops.

Monty, informed by newsmen of the Italian's offer to settle matters on the field of honor, said he would be "delighted to receive the challenge."

"But I shall do nothing about it except frame it," he added, "and stick it on the wall."

The field marshal was openly intrigued by the challenge.

"With what weapons?" he inquired politely when a reporter told him of the challenge.

London newspapers said the gauntlet had been thrown down in Rome by Vincenzo Caputo, describing himself as "national president of the Italian Nationalist Assn."

The challenge, said Caputo, had been sent "in defense of the prestige of the Italian nation and of the honor of its army, unjustly outraged by defamations founded on falsehood and lies."

In his memoirs, Montgomery said Italian troops were "unreliable when it came to hard fighting" and described Italy's change of sides in World War II as "the biggest double-cross in history."

Prisoner Flees Jail in Catskill

CATSKILL, N. Y. (AP)—State police and deputy sheriffs searched today for a prisoner who pushed aside a jailer and a trusty, then dashed through a front door of the Catskill County jail.

The prisoner, Edward L. Smith, 31, a Negro, of Wichita, Kan., escaped shortly after eating supper Wednesday night. He was being held for grand jury action on charges of second-degree grand larceny and third-degree burglary.

Jailer Paul Morrison said he was about to return Smith to his cell when Smith pushed him and a trusty.

Army Bares Perfect Shot Of Redstone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army has completed its Redstone ballistic missile test program with what reportedly was a perfect 250-mile shot across the Atlantic test range.

The 63-foot rocket, most advanced ballistic weapon in the U.S. arsenal, blasted skyward from the cape Wednesday night.

The Redstone, which reportedly detonated nuclear warheads over the Pacific three times, already is being used by NATO defense forces in Europe.

The workhorse missile also provided the first-stage vehicle for the Jupiter-C satellite rocket that fired three Explorer moons into orbit.

The Chrysler-built Redstone first was fired from the cape in 1953.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is considering plans to use the Redstone in part of the man-in-space program.

Rosendale Saves Money by Using Mountain Water

Rosendale Village is now using the mountain reservoir on the Mountain Road for its water supply, it was announced by Mayor Catherine O'Leary at the village board meeting in the village hall Wednesday night.

As an economy measure during the winter months Rosendale uses the water from the mountain reservoir which is gravity fed to the Rosendale water system. The saving is in the cost of electricity used to pump the water from Still Pond.

Recent rains have made the switch over practical at this early date, it was brought out.

Mayor O'Leary also reported the emergency pump at the water system's pumphouse has been repaired.

Seeking the cooperation of village residents, Mayor O'Leary asked that snow and ice from future storms be removed from sidewalks within 24 hours in compliance with Section 163 of the Village Law. She said that in order to keep the sidewalks safe after a snowfall, the work of clearing the walks will be done by the village for those who do not comply, and the cost assessed to their property.

Directors Named By Fire Co-op

Eight directors were elected and a 10 per cent dividend was declared at the 45th annual meeting of the Associated Cooperative Fire Insurance Companies held Oct. 30 at the Fallsburg Central School.

Directors elected were Alex Wittenberg of Livingston Manor; Arthur Shindler of Hurleyville, Arnold Schmuckler of Loch Sheldrake, Archie Schwartz of Woodbourne, Abe Jaffe of Glen Wild, Samuel K. Cohen of Kerhonkson, Jonas Nass of Briggs Highway, Greenfield Park, and Joseph Weinreb of Parksville.

The 10 per cent dividend will be paid on the 1957 assessment.

A report of the activities of the board of directors was given by President Archie Schwartz. Secretary Harry Wasserman presented the financial and statistical report for the calendar year 1957.

Max Levine, a director of the companies from the Hurleyville area since 1932, announced his retirement.

Building Awards Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy construction contract awards reported in the week ended Monday declined to $221,470,000 from $272,924,000 the previous week, Engineering News-Record and Construction Daily said today.

A year ago awards totaled $147,911,000 for the corresponding week.

The current week's total was made up of $73,961,000 in private construction and $147,509,000 in public construction.

This brought volume for the 45 weeks of 1958 to $16,922,456,000, 6 per cent higher than last year's pace.

Matter of FACT

The last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence was Charles Carroll, who died Nov. 14, 1832, in Baltimore, at the age of 95. He added the words "of Carrollton (Md.)" to his signature on the Declaration to distinguish himself from his father and cousins of the same name. When he was more than 90, Carroll turned the first spadeful of earth in the building of the country's first railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio.

Marketing Report

The old saying "two can live cheaper than one" may have trapped many an unwary bachelor. But he soon learned. A family of two can eat for less money than two single persons can, but their total food bill will still be nearly double that of the one alone. And the more children they add to the family, the greater their food bill will be. At the same time, the larger the family the less it costs to feed each member of the family, according to Extension Specialists. "Cheaper by the dozen" can fool you—it costs less for each, but requires more total money.

As your family grows it becomes more important to plan the food budget carefully and spend it wisely. Here are some practices that will help:

Buy in season. Most foods have their price ups and downs throughout the year. Nearby produce in season is usually less costly than shipped-in produce at any time. Beef, pork, and lamb are usually seasonally low in price in the winter; veal, in late summer and fall.

Buy in quantity. Food bought in large containers is usually less costly than that purchased in small ones. Apples by the bushel, potatoes by the hundred pounds, cereal in the large box—all represent economies if there is adequate and appropriate storage space.

Watch for specials. Most stores offer specials at real savings. With meat taking such a large part of the food money, this is an especially good place to watch for specials.

Compute cost per serving. The cost of each serving rather than the price of the retail unit is the important point. Cuts of meat, for example, vary in the number of servings per pound as well as in price per pound. The same is true of other foods.

Read the label. The weight of the contents and the ingredients will be on the can or package. It pays to know what you're buying.

Clothing, Home Furnishing

Clothing and Home Furnishing projects made by women in units of the Home Demonstration Department of the Ulster County Extension Service will be exhibited on Tuesday, November 18 at the Hurley School. Miss Wanda Wdowka, a fashion stylist, will speak at the same meeting on Selecting Your Pattern and Fabric.

Enameling, wooden bowls, braided rugs, millinery, wool skirts and dresses are the projects to be shown at the Summary Meeting. Millinery and clothing projects will be modeled by the unit members who made them. Mrs. Alfred Bagnall will narrate the fashion show.

The speaker, Miss Wanda Wdowka taught for a number of years in the Traphagen School of Design, and has been traveling with a pattern company for the past two years. She will speak on the proper selection of patterns, how to alter patterns and how to know the right fabric to use for different styles and figure types.

Refreshments will be served. Everyone interested is urged to come.

Kingston High Basketball Team Missing Three Starters

Candidates Drilling For Opener on Dec. 9

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

When you lose your top scorer and two best rebounders, a big rebuilding job is in order and that's what faces Kingston High School basketball coach John Gilligan as he puts 80 candidates through drills in preparation for the season's opener, Tuesday, December 9, against Middletown.

Last year Kingston won 12 games and lost seven, missing by only one game, a spot in the sectionals. From that club, ace forwards George Uhl and Joe Klonowski and center Bob Strong have graduated. Uhl was the scoring leader and Klonowski and Strong cleared the backboard, though both of them hit double figures in the point department on several occasions.

However, all is not black. A pair of promising juniors, John Kelly and Bob Short, plus football star Hobie Armstrong and Charley Williams are returning and they are expected to form the nucleus of this year's club. Kelly and Armstrong were regulars last year and Short and Williams were the sixth and seventh players, or the chief reserves. Also expected to return is Dave O'Connor, who saw limited action last season. All but Armstrong and O'Connor have been practicing since Monday. Those two will have to wait until after the Thanksgiving Day game with Newburgh and chances are, they will not be in top condition when the opening game is played.

Good Shooters

Though Gilligan admits the loss of his three leading players will hurt, he is not entirely pessimistic. "We will have one of the best shooting clubs in the league and will also have a lot of speed," he said. The Kingston coach said he is mainly concerned with the rebounding and defensive play of the club. "If we can get our share of the backboards and learn how to play a fairly good defensive game, we could be tough to beat," Gilligan emphasized.

The Kingston coach said the DUSO League appears to be well balanced. However, he rates Newburgh, with four returning starters, as the club to beat and said Monticello could be the dark horse this season. "And Poughkeepsie always comes up with a representative squad," he said.

In addition to the five returning varsity players, six jayvee stars of last season are battling for a berth on the varsity. At the moment, sophomore Joe Uhl looks like the best bet to make the jump. He was the leading scorer for the jayvees as a freshman and shows good poise. Others hoping to advance are Walt Harder, Garry Barnes, Don Dittus, Harry Pratt, Joe VanDyke and Albert Brown. Dittus and Pratt are both over six feet, but as Gilligan says, they are very green. However, since his overall squad will not be to tall, he may keep the youngsters.

Sixteen DUSO Games

Kingston will play 16 games in the DUSO circuit and has two outside contests scheduled with Arlington High School.

Candidates include Alan Tucker, Dick Murphy, John Lewis, Thomas Dunham, James Tosney, Bill Dickson, John Falvey, Duane VanDemark, John Duffner, Mike Ferraro, Mike Celuck, Ralph Dericco, Clarence Reel, Edward Koeppen, William Boddenweber, Herb Shultz, Bob Lane, Carl Jousiewicz, Al Seilback, Doug Mullen, Len Bove, Harold Hughes, Fred Keane, Robert Murphy, Bruce Eymaun, Howard Bernard, Joe Liebergot, Art Ferraro, Lester Wood, Ron Seccreto, Henry Lengley, Roger Wells, Peter Coffey, Wayne Dickert, William Burke, Bob Sermier, John Chepeleff, Barry Bliss, Pete Tarzioski, Mike Loughron.

Auburn Clinging To Defense Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Florida's Gators gave Auburn's defense its toughest afternoon in two years last Saturday but the stalwart Tigers still have the best record among major college football teams in holding back the opposition.

The surprisingly strong Gators roamed for 249 yards (166 on the ground, 83 in the air) against the celebrated Auburn defense that had yielded an average of just 108.6 yards in 5 previous contests.

When the figuring was completed by the NCAA Service Bureau today, however, Auburn still was the leader in total defense average per game (132 yards) and rushing defense (65.7) and second in points yielded per game (27 in 6 for a 4.5 average).

Louisiana State's all - winners, the No. 1 team in the nation, have given up but 4.1 points per game (29 in 7) in compiling their 7-0 record. Auburn's unbeaten, oncetied team, incidentally, nosed out Florida 6-5 despite the Gators' big yardage totals.

Iowa State, with a mediocre 3-4 record, became the new passing defense leader. The Cyclones have given up just 43.4 aerial yards a game. In addition, their alert pass defenders have intercepted almost half as many passes as have been completed against them (14 stolen, 31 completed, of 81 thrown).

Army's Cadets, the most passed against team in the country (25 times per game), have intercepted the most tosses, 19.

Other leaders include: Punting-Alabama, 42.1 yards per kick; return of kickoffs-Virginia Military, 28.9 per kickoff; return of punts-Princeton, 20.8 yards per punt.

DUSO Leader

Butler Paces League With 30 Points Scored

Burying Port Jervis with a three touchdown avalanche, Earl Butler, Newburgh Free Academy's fleet halfback, has taken the lead in the DUSO Football league scoring race. According to unofficial figures compiled by The Freeman Sports Department, Butler has five touchdowns in two league starts for 30 points.

Herb Boschen and Jimmy Gordon of Poughkeepsie are second with 18 points and Kingston's Hobie Armstrong is third with 17. Hobie is defending scoring champion, but his chances of repeating are remote. He appeared only to kick against Port Jervis an will therefore play in one less game than the others.

League action is at a standstill this weekend. Kingston plays a non-league tilt at home against Mont Pleasant of Schenectady. Port Jervis plays host to East Stroudsburg. Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Middletown are idle. NFA and the Pioneers will clash next week at the Bridge City and the Middies will meet Kingston at Middletown. After those contests, only the traditional Thanksgiving day games remain.

Long Wait

AUSTIN, Tex. (NEA)—Texas Tech has played Texas in football nine times since 1928 but none of it really counts, as far as football fans here are concerned, until 1960 when Tech joins the Southwestern Conference.

That's Good Enough

Minor Loop Realignment Plan Depends on Two Top Leagues

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "The entire realignment plan depends upon the Texas League and the American Assn."

Baseball Coordinator Bill DeWitt volunteered this opinion today as the two circuits met jointly in an effort to arrive at some agreement which would advance either one or three double A Texas League clubs to the triple A American Assn.

The two leagues agreed Wednesday night to consider two proposals offered by DeWitt. If accepted, they could result in revamping the structure of anywhere from five to seven minor leagues.

Under DeWitt's first proposition, the Texas League would give up Houston, it's largest city, to the American Assn. for a specified sum. In return, the Texas League would acquire the Amarillo, Tex., franchise from the class A Western League, which is considering dissolving.

Second Proposition

Proposition No. 2 would switch Texas cities Dallas and Ft.Worth, along with Houston, to the AA in return for Albuquerque, N.M., and Amarillo along with another Western League franchise as yet not identified.

The reason for the two propositions is this. The American Assn., which has virtually decided to drop debt-ridden Louisville, has offered its Charleston, W.Va., club to the International League. The latter circuit, under DeWitt's realignment program, would then incorporate Jacksonville of the South Atlantic League and expand to 10 teams. The Sally League is willing to let Jacksonville go.

The trouble with this scheme is that the International League does not want Charleston. It would agree to enlarge provided it could obtain Atlanta. The Southern Assn. is opposed to letting go its largest city. Sounds complicated? It is.

Not Hopeless

All is not hopeless, however. Should Charleston remain in the American Assn., that circuit may consider expanding to 10 teams by adding Dallas and Fort Worth along with Houston, and dropping Louisville. It is understood then that the St.Louis Cardinals, which operate Houston as well as Omaha, Neb., of the AA, would sell the Houston franchise to the highest bidder.

What would the Texas League get out of it? Besides the three new cities, they would be guaranteed eight working agreements with major league clubs. Currently, only three of its clubs have such working agreements. According to a reliable source, the Texas League has been offered $25,000 for each of the three clubs but is holding out for $40,000 per club.

Kingston Boys' Club to Have Physical Education Program

John Holochuck, director of the Kingston Boys' Club, said today a comprehensive physical education program will be started, featuring games of low organization, tumbling and basketball. The club will have use of the George Washington School gym, Friday, between 6:15 and 10 p. m. The gym will be used each Friday thereafter by the organization.

Although two basketball leagues will be organized for the various age groups, members who are not interested in the sport are urged to attend the gym period.

Assisting Holochuck in the program will be Joseph Thurin, Dr. Oscar Sotsky and John Houghtaling. Persons interested in officiating or coaching seven or eight youngsters are urged contact the Boys' Club.

Vet, Two Rookies Lead Golf Tourney

ATLANTA, Fa. (AP) — An old pro and two comparative newcomers to the tournament circuit held the lead today as the Atlanta Open Golf Tournament headed into the second round.

Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., winless in major tournament play since his 1954 national PGA victory; J. C. Goosie; and Bill Collins, making his first year on tour, each posted a 68 over the hilly Cherokee Town and Country Club course Wednesday.

The 7,002-yard layout has a par of 36-36-72. Although it opened about a year ago, many of the 122 in this tournament don't consider it a polished course yet.

Ten other players crowded in under par and there was a 12-way tie at par itself.

Busso Wants Title Chance After Decisioning Joe Brown

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown still holds his title but sixth-ranked Johnny Busso of New York put a blot on Brown's record with a scorching 10-round decision Wednesday night.

Busso, 12-5 underdog at fight time, won the nontitle affair by a comfortable margin with a fine mixture of left jabs and hooks coupled with right crosses that kept Brown backing away.

Busso, who had been promised a chance at the title if he won this fight, was definitely in line for it. Brown has successfully defended his championship against Ralph Dupas and Kenny Lane and no other lightweight in sight could have put up a better fight than Busso.

Good Strategy

Busso's trainer Chick Ferrera said the strategy was to keep Brown moving back.

"But the fight was won mostly on his (Busso's) terrific shape," the trainer added. "It would be the same story for 15 rounds—he would be in shape for it."

Lou Ciscusi, Brown's manager, said a title fight with Busso wasn't in his plans "but I suppose now we will have to add him to the list."

The champion said his weight, a surprising 140½ to Busso's 139¾, wasn't a factor in his defeat.

Brown opened a deep gash high on Busso's cheekbone in the fourth round and worked on that briefly but Busso came storming back to carry the attack to the champion.

Caruso's Wins Over 35 Cagers

Moll Leonard and Bob Bondar, a couple of former Kingston High School basketball stars, put on a scoring show last night at the YMCA as Caruso's cagers nipped the 35 Club 67-65, in a C division thriller.

Leonard, the big pivotman for Caruso's, had eight field goals and canned eight of nine foul shots for 24 points. Bondar led the losers with nine field goals and seven foul shots in 10 attempts for 25 markers.

Caruso's held a slim 27-22 halftime edge and managed to survive through a hectic second half.

Packer Players Are in Jeopardy

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The ax hanging over the heads of some of the Green Bay Packers probably will remain in the air until Sunday when the National Football League club shows what it can do in the return engagement with the Chicago Bears.

Coach Scooter McLean hit the roof earlier this week when he led the criticism of his club, handed the worst licking in its 40-year history when smashed by the Baltimore Colts 56-0 last Sunday. It was the fourth beating for the Packers who have won and played a tie.

McLean refused to add comment Wednesday night except to say he hasn't changed his mind about eliminating "bad roots." He brought up the root situation Monday, indicating six or seven veterans might get the sack. He refused to name the roots that might be hacked off.

He did say, "New rules have been established," and added:

"The players know what the results will be if they don't abide by them. That's all I have to say."

He refused to say whether the squad has looked any better in drills this week.

Celts Edge Syracuse, Knicks Win, 108-97

Sam Jones' jump shot from 17 feet out with one second remaining gave the Boston Celtics a 117-115 victory over the Syracuse Nationals in a hectic National Basketball association game last night.

The Nats had tied the score on a three point play by Bob Hopkins with nine seconds left as Dolph Schayes grabbed a rebound and passed to Hopkins, who laid it in and was fouled by Bill Russell.

The Celtics then called time out to set up the final Boston bid. Frank Ramsey fed the ball to Jones who dribbled into the clear and let go the winning shot from the side of the court.

At Cincinnati, the Royals lost to the New York Knickerbockers, 108-97, as only 989 fans turned out. The take was barely enough to pay the guy who added up the points.

The Royals trailed all the way and made a serious bid only in the third quarter when they pulled to within one point of the New Yorkers.

Kenny Sears had 22 points and veteran Carl Braun 20 for the winners. Jack Twyman hit for 26 to pace Cincinnati.

Brothers Play Against Each Other in Kansas

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott of Ulysses, Kan., will be intensely interested but impartial fans at the Fort Hays State-Washburn football game Friday night.

Their son, Lynn, 19, is quarterback for Fort Hays. Another son, Larry, 23, is Washburn's quarterback.

Eighth Victory

First Landing's victory in the Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park marked the 2-year-old colt's eighth victory in nine starts, all under Eddie Arcaro.

Willie Galimore Is Fast Runner

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the most feared, game-breaking runners in the National Football League is the Chicago Bears' Willie Galimore.

At times he is so spectacular that even Papa Bear George Halas—who has seen them come and go for more than 35 years—is fascinated by the leggy, 190-pound halfback from Florida A&M.

Galimore's technique has been studied by Halas—and undoubtedly other NFL coaches—on slow-motion films.

"He runs with a long-legged, flat-footed, reaching stride which gives him firm purchase with each step and enables him to twist and turn between strides to make him double elusive to potential tackles," Halas says.

"Of course he is very fast—he was a 9.6 track man in the 100-yard dash in college — but he always has speed in reserve. He uses this in sudden bursts to break away from defensive men who think they have him gauged for a tackle shot or trapped near the sidelines."

Scored 42 Points

As a rookie last year, Galimore scored 42 points. With this season only at the halfway point, he has streaked to 10 touchdowns for 60 points. Seven of them have come on runs from scrimmage and three on pass catches.

Used only as a spot player, he has gained 358 yards in 56 carries for a 6.4 average and has added 148 more on 6 pass receptions.

Says the 23-year-old Galimore of his style: "When I see daylight, I turn on the gas. And the blocking and hole-opening of my teammates makes that daylight possible."

Army, Purdue Have Injuries To Their Starting Fullbacks

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Jarus and Harry Walters are two of the more important men in the country today — at least as far as the Purdue and Army football teams are concerned.

Both are fullbacks and both are hobbled by injuries. In addition, both are vitally needed this Saturday as Purdue takes on Ohio State in the Big Ten and Army makes its first trip ever to the Southwest to play Rice.

Jarus has been the leading ground-gainer for the eighth-ranked Boilermakers this year. The 6 foot, 197-pound junior from Parma, Ohio is also the nation's fifth-ranked scorer with 54 points on nine touchdowns.

He has a twisted knee that kept him in the trainer's room during practice Wednesday for treatment. Any hopes Purdue has of matching Ohio State's terrible-twosome of fullback Bob White and halfback Don Clark rests in Jarus' sturdy legs.

Rejoins Team

Walters, who sprained an ankle in the Cadets' 35-6 victory over Virginia, finally rejoined the team in Wednesday's practice session. Coach Earl Blaik has had to rely on "Bingo" Bonko, who proved to be an adequate replacement in the 14-14 tie with Pitt and the 68-6 romp over Colgate.

However, in Blaik's style of play, utilizing halfbacks Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson, two of the best all-around halfbacks in the country, Walters is invaluable.

The Owls, meantime, had quarterbacks Jon Schnable and Al Hartman ready for the Cadets. Schnable is hampered slightly with a bruised hip but will be Coach Jess Neely's starting choice.

Sagging Offense

Ohio State worked on its sagging offense. The Bucks also have halfback Jim Herbstreit, tackle Jim Tyrer and end Jim Houston hobbled with injuries but the trio is expected to be ready Saturday.

Duke, which has a Saturday date with top-ranked Louisiana State, solidified its fullback post when Butch Allie moved up to replace injured Bobby Cruickshank. The Blue Devils ace halfback George Dutrow sat out the practice session with a leg muscle strain but is expected to be ready for LSU.

Fullback Mike Stock of Northwestern is a questionmark for the Wisconsin game Saturday. He has a sprained ankle, with soph Fred Hecker in his spot during a contact drill Wednesday.

It was the Cards' seventh triumph against two losses in their 16-game series in Japan.

AIRLIFT

Skypeck Leads League Passers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Poor passing is the password in the Ivy Football League this season with Tom Skypeck of Cornell the only individual standout.

The odd part is that until two weeks ago Skypeck wans't considered such a hot-shot passer either. But in last Saturday's game against Columbia he hit on 11 of 23 aerials for 199 yards and two touchdowns.

Collectively, each of the Ivy teams is well under the 55 per cent pass - completion average needed to make for a solid, well balanced offense. The latest figures show that Brown leads with 46 per cent followed by Cornell with 43, Dartmouth and Columbia 42 apiece, Penn 38, Yale 36, Princeton 35 and Harvard 32.

So, it's no wonder that Jordan Olivar, coach of the last-place Yale Bulldogs, said, "if we had a crack passer like Dick Winterbauer or Eddie Molloy (two former Yale stars) this year we would be fighting for the title rather than in the cellar."

And while Olivar and other Ivy coaches are drooling at the unrealized possibilities of a well-thrown downfield pass, they are putting their charges through stiff workouts in preparation for Saturday's action.

Still Unbeaten

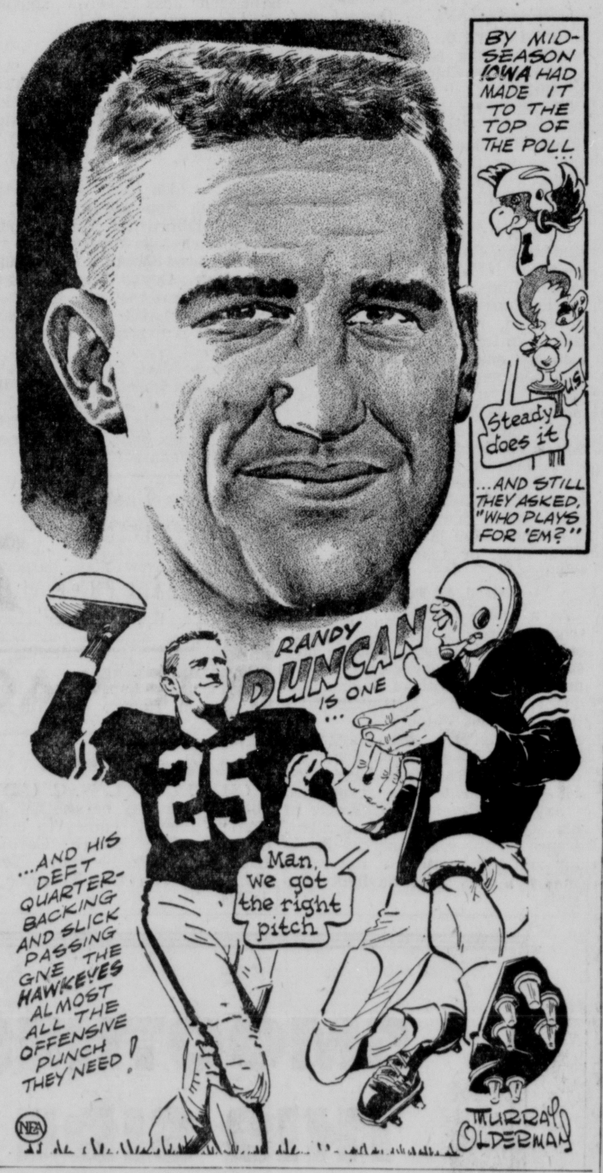
Cornell, unbeaten in league play, went through a heavy scrimmage Wednesday while prepping for Brown. Capt. Bob Hazzard, who missed the Big Red's first five games because of a knee injury, alternated at the halfback posts with Phil Taylor and Terry Wilson. Brown is 2-3 in the league, Cornell 4-0.

Dartmouth, tied for second place with Princeton at 3-1, received some bad news. Second string left guard Phil Clarke, bothered by a painful neck muscle strain, will miss Saturday's game against Columbia.

There also was an ominous note at the Tigers' camp in Princeton. Frank Schulz, starting left tackle, will be out for the rest of the season, it was disclosed. He missed eight weeks of practice because of head injuries, but returned for spot duty two weeks ago. Princeton meets Harvard (2-2).

Yale, which meets Penn, went through a full contact scrimmage. The Elis are 0-4 and Penn is 2-2.

PITCHING IN



Football Briefs

ITHACA, N. Y (AP) — Carl Bancoff, a junior from Philadelphia, is waging an intensive campaign to win a starting spot at left guard on the Cornell football squad.

Bancoff, a second stringer, performed well in a heavy workout Wednesday in the position held down regularly by John Hanley of Jersey City, N. J.

Cornell is preparing to meet Brown Saturday at Providence.

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Colgate is working hard on its pass defenses in preparation for a meeting Saturday with the Holy Cross football squad.

The Red Raiders held a long drill Wednesday on defenses. The squad then went under the lights to put finishing touches on its new, double winged-T offense.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Tackle Ron Luciano, one of the outstanding linemen in the country, will be co-captain of the Syracuse University football squad in its game at Boston University Friday night.

He will share the post with the season captain, quarterback Chuck Zimmerman. Luciano is a 6-2, 224-pound senior from Endicott.

Delicately Balanced

Harness sulkies are balanced so delicately that a 250-pound driver is no more drag on a trotter or pacer than a 110-pound reinsman.

Welterweight Ralph Dupas of New Orleans was fighting main events before he turned 15. He is 23 now.

Poorest record for an Alabama team was in 1955. The Crimson Tide lost all 10 games.

Rams Hope to Set Attendance Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, hoping to set another National Football League attendance record when they meet the San Francisco 49ers Sunday, may set up additional bleachers in Memorial Coliseum.

Ram officials talked Wednesday with Coliseum Manager Bill Nicholas about installing bleachers in the east end of the big bowl.

If they decide to set up the bleachers, they might come up with a crowd the size of the one that watched Notre Dame and Southern California in 1947. That one—105,236—set an all-time record.

The existing NFL record was set last year by the 49ers and Rams, who played before 102,368 at the coliseum.

Angels Get Win Over Balotin

It took Harry's Angels an overtime period to preserve their unbeaten record in the YMCA A division league, but the leaders did just that with a pulsating 87-85 win over Balotin R/x of Ellenville last night at the local court.

After jumping to a 30-23 margin at the end of the first quarter, the winners had trouble the rest of the way. With Bobby Brown in a starring role, the Ellenville club came back strong and tied the regulation contest at 80-80 with only six seconds left on a jump shot by Brown.

Harry's, with six men scoring in double figures, had too much team work and finesse. In overtime period, the winners managed seven points while Balotin's made only five. That spelled the difference.

Brown canned 34 points, all of them on field goals, in a spectacular shooting show. Andy Juhl led the well balanced attack of the Angels with 18 markers. Fred Orr contributed 16, Dick Terlingen 14, Al Long 12 and Champ Holstein and George Uhl 11 each.

Walters Returns To Army Lineup

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — High-ranked Army approaches its first Texas trip with caution, showing great respect for the Rice team the Cadets meet Saturday in Houston.

Coach (Red) Blaik got cheering news Wednesday when it was learned that Harry Walters, the regular fullback who suffered an ankle injury in the Virginia game, will be able to play.

In fact, Walters probably will start against Rice although he still is hobbled. The fullback will not play on defense according to Blaik's plans.

The Cadets were to leave by plane from Stewart Field this afternoon and arrive at Houston in mid-evening. They plan to work out Friday afternoon at Rice Stadium.

Army never has made a football trip to the southwest nor has it played Rice. The only southwest opponent it ever met was Southern Methodist in 1928 at home.

When Khalita won the Demoiselle Stakes at Belmont Park it marked the 2-year-old filly's seventh victory in eight starts. She brought $5,200 as a yearling.

Indian Exhibit

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—An exhibit of American Indian culture, prepared by anthropologists at Beloit College, is being sent on a tour of Europe. The tour will open at the national museum at Helsinki, and possibly may later go to Poland and Russia. Included in the exhibit are 27 panels with materials from five different Indian cultures.

Irish Horse Ready For International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Ireland's Ballymoss, 4-year-old European champion, arrives here today to prepare for next Tuesday's $100,000 International.

The Irish colt, owned by John McShane of Philadelphia, is an early favorite for the mile and one-half race over grass. He will be retired to the English stud after the International.

Ballymoss and two other horses — stablemate Tharp and Germany's Orsini — left London Wednesday night for the United States.

Dulles Must Talk To Democrats on Close Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will have to seek much closer cooperation with Democratic leaders of Congress if he is to run foreign policy effectively during his last two years in office.

Aides said privately today they had no doubt he would take such action, although it was still too early to say what specific steps might be necessary.

Have More Authority

Although Congress has been under Democratic control for the last four of the Eisenhower administration's six years, a shift in power over the conduct of foreign affairs now seems certain to come about for two reasons:

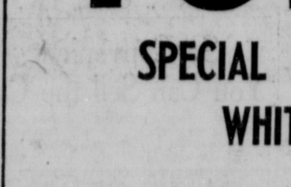
1. Tuesday's election gave the Democrats such overwhelming control as virtually to vest them with a new degree of authority and confidence not only to criticize what is being done but to say how it should be done. Or so it appears to many observers in the State Department.

2. Regardless of what happens in the 1960 elections, the Eisenhower administration as such is limited to two more years in office. The leadership authority of the President and secretary of state therefore must be expected to decline, relative to the reinforced Democratic leadership at the Capitol.

He's Encouraged

But the record of the last four years of working with Democratic Congresses encourages Dulles aides to believe that close cooperation will be obtained.

They look for continued support on major issues of foreign aid appropriations and problems involving firm stands against expansionist moves by the Communist bloc countries.



They'll play safe when left with a trained sitter

Glenford Youth Wins National Metal Arts Award

HOWARD HOPKINS JR.

It was announced by the Ford Motor Company that Howard Hopkins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hopkins, Glenford, received the first place award of $100 in the wrought metal division of the Ford National Industrial Arts Award contest.

The Industrial Arts Awards contest is open to students in the seventh through twelfth grades, and to students of vocational or trade schools. The competition is sponsored by the company to encourage fine craftsmanship among industrial arts students in the United States, its territories and Canada. More than 40,000 projects in 14 different competitive categories were entered in local contests last spring. Of these, 4,175 were sent to Dearborn for the finals.

A panel of judges, including vocational teachers, skilled craftsmen and engineers, selected the final 716 winners and awarded 32 Outstanding Achievement Awards to 31 students, for projects considered best in craftsmanship, ingenuity and creative design.

During the 1956-57 school year, Hopkins won first prize in the local lamp contest and third prize in the district contest. Last year, he was also awarded first prize in the contest at the State University Teachers College, Oswego.

Last year, Onteora students received two first place awards in the Ford National Industrial Arts Award Contest in addition to a place winner certificate. Herman Carl Jr., Lake Hill, was the winner of the $100 prize in the plastic division, Olav Sjursen, Bearsville, was winner of the first prize in the wrought metal division, and Howard Wendler, Shandaken, winner of a place winner certificate in the Woodworking Division.

The Onteora industrial arts program is directed by Paul Malek and Alfred Moses.

U.S. Cardinals Back From Rome

NEW YORK (AP) —America's two cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church returned from Rome by air today and disclosed they had mailed their absentee ballots for the U. S. election while in conclave to choose a new pope.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, the archbishop of New York, and James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, commented freely to newsmen about both elections.

"The Pope expressed his gratitude to the United States for all this country has done for the suffering people of the world," said Cardinal Spellman. "His program is a program of peace, just as the program of the American people is for peace."

Cardinal McIntyre described Pope John XXIII as "most gracious" and praised him in glowing terms.

Cardinal McIntyre was informed on his arrival that California voters had defeated Proposition 16 by a vote of two to one. This proposition would have removed the tax exemption from private and non-profit schools in California.

"I thank Almighty God and the people of California for this," he said. "They showed the true American spirit in defeating this measure. Tthis was a state issue but it had national implications. If it had passed, California would have been the only state in the union with such a law."

Mayor Urges All To Participate in Day for Veterans

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today urged all residents of the city to participate in the observance of Veterans Day on Tuesday Nov. 11.

In his proclamation, the mayor noted that a ceremony will be held at muncipal auditorium at 8 p. m., sponsored by the Kingston Veterans Association with the cooperation of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians.

Mayor Radel quoted Governor Harriman's proclamation in which he urged residents of the state "to commemorate and pay appropriate homage to the veterans of all wars of this nation, who have contributed so much to the preservation of this nation; to solemnly remember the sacrifices of all those who fought so valiantly on the seas, in the air, and on the foreign shores to preserve our heritage of freedom."

The mayor urged "all citizens of this city, business enterprises, veterans organizations and city officials to assist in every possible way" for observance of Veterans Day by their attendance at the ceremony scheduled at the municipal auditorium.

Bakery Strike Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike-threatening dispute which halted for a day production and delivery of products of the John Reber Baking Corp. in a six state area, was settled Wednesday night and deliveries will be resumed tonight, the company announced today.

John Reber, president of the firm, said there was no actual strike by 32 drivers, members of Local 802 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, but that the union's threat of strike had caused the company to halt production Tuesday.

This meant no deliveries on Wednesday in this city, Long Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Connecticut and Massachusetts, but, Reber said, production was under way today and shipments will start at 8 o'clock tonight.

28 on Airliner

Second Plane Is Presumed Seized By Cuban Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A Cuban airliner carrying 28 persons vanished in eastern Cuba Wednesday night and was presumed to have been seized in flight by rebel agents.

Two other Cubana Airline planes have been diverted in flight since Oct. 31 by rebel gunmen posing as passengers. One crashed, killing 17 of the 20 persons aboard.

One U. S. Man Aboard

Among the 25 passengers aboard the DC3 which disappeared Wednesday night was an American listed without address as Robert Montgomery. He was believed to be a sailor or Marine flying to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

Ten women were on the passenger list.

The plane carried a crew of three: pilot Armando Piedra, skin-diving champion of Cuba; copilot Guido Kohly; and steward Amado Cantillo, son of the military chief of Oriente province.

The plane was on a flight from Havana to Guantanamo, with stops scheduled at Manzanillo on the southeast coast and Holguin. All the stops were in Oriente province, the stronghold of activity by rebels led by Fidel Castro. The plane left Manzanillo at 4:30 p.m. but never arrived at Holguin, about 70 miles to the northeast.

Although government soldiers hold Holguin, rebel bands are active throughout the area.

New Leader Opposed

Castro has embarked upon a systematic campaign to disrupt transportation in an effort to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista's regime. Castro also opposes President - elect Andres Rivero Aguero, a Batista choice, who is to take office in February.

The first plane to disappear was a Cubana DC3, which was seized on a flight from Cayo Mambi to Moa Bay, site of an American-owned nickel and cobalt mining enterprise. It had 14 persons aboard, including the crew of three.

The plane was landed at Cananove and eight of the passengers were allowed to return to their homes. The crew and a soldier passenger were reported still being held.

Last Saturday night four rebel gunmen seized a four-engine Viscount turboprop plane on its 45-minute flight from Miami to Varadero Beach, 87 miles east of Havana.

All but three of the 20 persons aboard were killed when the gunmen forced the pilot to attempt a landing.

GLOBE DIGGER—The world is just a big apple waiting to be cored, in the opinion of Dr. T. F. Gaskell, shown above in his London office. Chief physicist for the British Petroleum Co., he plans to drill a hole 10 miles deep into the earth, far outstripping man's deepest penetration of his planet. With modern tools and techniques, the scientist says, it may be possible to drill all the way to the earth's center, believed to be a mass of molten iron.

Parents of Seniors To Hear College Topic

Parents of Saugerties High School seniors are being invited to attend a meeting Nov. 13, 7:30 p. m. at the new junior-senior high school on Washington Avenue Extension for information concerning colleges to be presented by the director of guidance, Miss A. Frances Larned.

She will include in her discussion such topics as how to select a college, cost of attending colleges, how college costs can be met, steps to be taken in applying for admission, the use and interpretation of College Entrance Board examinations, and how parents can help their children prepare for college.

November 20 at 7:30 p. m. another meeting of parents of seniors will be held in the high school. Miss Larned will provide information concerning advanced institutions of learning involving less than four years of training. She will discuss the offerings of business schools, junior colleges, nurses' training institutions, technical institutes and special schools. Miss Larned will describe courses, costs, lengths of programs, and opportunities.

At present Miss Larned is holding a series of meetings with seniors concerned with four year college courses. When this series is concluded she will conduct group guidance sessions with other seniors who are interested in advanced education courses less than four years long.

Later in the school year programs will be arranged for those graduates who prefer to seek employment directly after graduation.

List Filing Hints For Vet's Survivors

Survivors of deceased veterans may speed up consideration of their application for compensation or pension under new laws enacted by the last session of Congress if when filing their claim they will follow four suggestions made by Charles L. Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. They pointed out that if a veteran's death certificate does not contain a statement as to the cause of death, it should be accompanied by a statement from the attending doctor, showing dates of treatment and the cause of death.

A widow filing a claim, moreover, should furnish a certified copy of the record of her marriage to the veteran. In the event that either a widow or a veteran was previously married, the widow should, if possible, submit a certified copy of the transcript of death or divorce decree to establish that any previous marriage was dissolved.

In cases where there are minor children, Culver and Shurter said, a certified copy of the birth or baptismal record should be furnished. These documents should contain the names of both parents and the child's date of birth. A copy of the court order should be obtained in instances where a child was adopted.

Parents filing a claim must establish their relationship to a veteran by furnishing a certified copy of the veteran's birth or baptismal certificate containing the names of both parents.

Further information concerning veteran benefits, any entitlement to compensation or pension, and the procedure for applying for them may be obtained from the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs office at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, and the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Chamber Ballots Are Due Back by 5 P.M. on Nov. 12

Members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce who have not returned their nominating ballots were urged to do so today.

Robert R. Keefe, chairman of the Election Tellers, reported today that early returns have been gratifying. Over 25 per cent of the ballots for the nomination of directors have been returned to date.

The nominating ballots were received early this week by members. They will be counted Wednesday night, Nov. 12. Therefore, only ballots received before 5 p. m. on that date will be counted.

A special nominating committee prepared a list of 39 candidates for the office of director. This list was forwarded to every member together with a self-addressed envelope.

The 14 candidates receiving the highest number of nominating votes will be placed on an election ballot and mailed to all members on or about Dec. 1. The seven nominees receiving the highest number of votes will then be declared elected for a three year term starting Jan. 1, 1959.

Traveling west, the car went off the left of the road into a ditch. The accident took place at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Mercury Dips As Cold Air Comes Closer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stiff cold winds sent temperatures tumbling across most of the mid-continent today and fanned the cold air into Eastern sections of the country.

Wind gusts from 45 to 65 m.p.h. churned waters of most of the Great Lakes during the night as the storm center moved northeastward behind the storm center and extended into the Appalachians and west Gulf Coast region.

The cool air was expected to move into the Atlantic states during the day after Wednesday's comparatively mild weather. But winds were expected to diminish sharply in the Northeast as the storm center north of the Great Lakes moves farther into Canada.

It was cool in most other parts of the country except in the Eastern sections ahead of the advancing cool front and in parts of the Pacific Coast.

Children Too Noisy

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Roger Langford, a school bus driver, said the noisy playfulness of his passengers got to be too much. He stopped his vehicle on the spot and resigned. A relief driver delivered the children to school.

AT MARINE BALL SATURDAY—Another popular act booked for the 12th annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, Saturday night is Jeane Jerome, known as the Queen of the Marimba. Announcement of the signing of this act was made today by Harold E. Macholdt, entertainment chairman. Saturday's ball, set for Wiltwyck Country Club at 9 o'clock, also will feature the music of Johnny Michaels and his orchestra. Another all-star act will make up the entertainment portion of this year's program.

No Warmth in Notes

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito, in his capacity as secretary general of the Yugoslav Communist party, wished "further successes in building socialism" today to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Tito, in his capacity as President of Yugoslavia, also cabled congratulations to President Klementi Y. Voroshilov.

Foreigners here ascribed lack of warmth in the cables to present tension between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

New York State has four customs' districts: New York, Buffalo, Rochester and St. Lawrence (Ogdensburg).
